TORNADO SLAYS 17

Alabama Toll Mounts; Over 200 Injured NEAR BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A tornado killed an estimated 17 persons and injured more than 200 Sunday in smashing a cluster of rural communities on industrial Birmingham's western outskirts.

Roscoe Whitley, Red Cross chapter manager, made the casualty estimates.

At least 100 houses were reduced to splinters. Twice that many were damaged.

Negro Area
Most of the dead were Negroes and most were unidentified some hours later. Alabama National Guardsmen, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army promptly set up rescue shelters for the homeless.

The roaring, whirling winds cut a wide path through an area thickly settled by coal miners and other industrial workers. They crushed the flimsy frame dwellings like eggshells.

A second tornado battered Huntsville, Ala., about 100 miles north of Birmingham, causing heavy damage but no loss of life or injuries.

Hardest hit was McDonald's Chapel, an unincorporated area just northwest of Birmingham.

Rescue Hampered
As rescue workers began rescue operations, a thunderstorm swept the stricken community with pelting hail and 60 m.p.h. winds.

It was spawned by a second wave of turbulent weather which threatened central Alabama with possibility of more tornadoes, the Weather Bureau said.

A group of Negro houses on a hill was "just swept away," said Fanny May Patton, who was treated at Lloyd Nolan Hospital in suburban Fairfield.

E. A. Lucas said the storm struck suddenly and with a tremendous roar.

Ducked Under Bed
"We barely had time to duck under the bed before the wind hit," he said.

The Oscar Salter home was destroyed while a 14-member family party was underway. No one was injured.

"The good Lord took care of us," said a survivor.

David Lucas, 9 son of the man, said, "It was all dark and smoky. It sounded like a train."

Shattered fragments of homes and furniture were strewn along the path of the storm as if crumpled and thrown aside by a giant hand.

Hospital Swamped
The first wave of dead and injured was carried to Lloyd Nolan Hospital, swamping its facilities. Emergency rooms and corridors were crowded with injured and relatives. All available nurses and doctors were called on duty to handle the overflow.

A company of the National Guard's 16th Infantry Regiment was ordered into the McDonald's Chapel area and set up two rescue centers.

Fires Start
Fires broke out at wrecked homes in the hard-hit McDonald's Chapel section, and fire trucks joined the stream of ambulances and police cars rushing into the devastated area.

Alabama Public Safety Director Bill Lyle said all available patrol cars into the Birmingham area to help keep the roads clear under other aid. All off-duty Birmingham traffic policemen were called back to escort ambulances and relief vehicles.

Hen Egg Hail
In addition to the Birmingham and Huntsville twisters, storms struck near Centerville and at Aniston. Hail the size of hen eggs was reported at Tuscaloosa in west Alabama.

No injuries were reported at these places.

The Huntsville tornado partly unroofed the historic three-story First National Bank Building and tore at roofs and windows of other downtown business places.

A downpour lasting more than two hours flooded many Huntsville streets to the level of automobile floorboards.

Other Twisters
Tornadoes were also reported near Ada and Okmulgee, Okla., another 45 miles southwest of Wichita, Kan., and a fourth 20 miles southwest of Joplin, Mo. There were no reports of damage from the storms.

Heavy amounts of rain fell in northern Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky. Hailstorms hit northern Texas and Oklahoma.

In North Dakota and Minnesota, farmland in the rich Red River Valley was threatened with floods by large amounts of unmelted snow. The Weather Bureau warned that a sudden runoff from snow in northwestern Minnesota would push the Red River of the north about 12 feet over flood at Grand Forks, N. D.

Photographers Boo Grace, Prince At Party's End

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Prince Rainier III and actress Grace Kelly spent a gay evening at a gala party Sunday night, then were booed by photographers as they emerged.

About 50 photographers waiting in the rain outside the exclusive Sporting Club were angry because: 1. They had swamped punches with police when the couple arrived. 2. Police now were keeping them back 25 yards from the ballroom entrance.

The Prince and Grace gave no sign they even heard the booing. They paused for an instant, then entered the Prince's limousine and left.

Trouble began when photograph ers and police mixed briefly outside the Sporting Club just after the Prince and Grace entered. The photographers did not like the brisk way in which police cleared a path.

Before newsmen—in restricted numbers—could enter the club to watch the party, they had to submit to a search for concealed cameras. But two wedding guests were seen taking pictures inside.

Relations between the Prince and the photographers have been strained since he ordered all except three official ones barred from his forthcoming civil wedding ceremony in the palace's throne room Wednesday.

The Prince had a romantic hand-holding evening with his bride-to-be at the party.

The strikingly gowned princess-to-be and her bemedaled Prince presided over a regal gala. The waiters wore white-hosed uniforms, orchestra members were in wigs, and a ballet troupe paid a fairy-like tribute to the wedding.

The guests rose and applauded as the couple entered.

Earlier Sunday the prince's spiritual adviser, Father Francis Tucker, lashed out at gossippers. He declared the Rainer-Kelly marriage "is going to last. It will never break up."

He startled a congregation in St. Charles Church which included guests here for the wedding with an admonition to look out for their own marital bliss.

Father Tucker, who has been Rainer's personal chaplain for nearly six years, is credited by many with bringing the Prince and the American actress together.

He delivered a sermon at the church right after saying Mass for Grace and Rainier in the private chapel of the Prince's palace. Present also in the chapel were members of both families.

He added: "I'm not worrying about the marriage of Grace Kelly and Rainier breaking because I'm their priest."

"I know them. This is a fine girl and a fine boy. I've given the last years of my life to that boy and I've got faith in him."

Then in a rising voice he added:

"I believe Rainier will keep his oath when he promises to take Grace Kelly as his wife forever. And Grace Kelly will keep her oath—or she won't be a Catholic."

GOP Try For Ike's Farm Bill OK Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A grass roots effort to convince President Eisenhower he should sign the farm bill appears likely to be launched at a Republican national campaign strategy conference opening here Monday.

Sen. Schoepel of Kansas, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee said the question of whether it would be politically unwise for the President to veto the measure is "certain to come up" at panel discussions in the two-day conference.

"Of course there will be discussion of the farm bill and of a possible presidential veto," Schoepel said. "I would not be surprised to see some grass root expressions against a veto, particularly from party workers representing the Midwest."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), one of those who has been urging the President not to veto the legislation, said he is confident party members from the Midwest share his view that a veto would make it difficult for Republicans to win control of Congress this November. Carlson and Schoepel voted for the farm bill, which Eisenhower had called unworkable.

Called By Hall

The GOP conference, which Eisenhower will address briefly Tuesday night, was called by GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Schoepel and Rep. Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Hall said he expects "shirt-sleeve sessions" to develop "an enormous amount of information on the political climate in every corner of the country."

Further Republican pressure on Eisenhower to sign the bill was coming from a delegation of Midwestern governors who expect to call on the President at the White House Monday. The governors are Fred Hall of Kansas, Leo Hoegh of Iowa, and Joe Foss of South Dakota. Gov. Victor Anderson of Nebraska has decided not to attend.

IKE RETURNS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew back Sunday night from a week of golfing and work in Augusta, Ga., to face an unusually busy week and to make his big decision on the politically explosive farm bill.

The President's stepped-up schedule also includes formal launching of his re-election campaign and a major foreign policy address.

Burwell Man Latest State Traffic Victim

BURWELL, Neb. (AP)—Ray Inness, 28, of Burwell, was killed Saturday night when the car in which he was riding went out of control and rolled over on a curve.

The accident occurred two miles east of Burwell on state Highway 91.

Inness was a passenger in a car driven by Leonard Blinde, also of Burwell.

The fatality is the 85th on Nebraska highways this year. There were 76 at this time a year ago.

Neglected Tots Taken From Littered Home

... 7 Adults Arrested At Drinking Party

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A Sunday morning that dawned gloomily for four young children brightened with the aid of Lincoln police and the helping hand of a police matron.

The four children, unwashed and unfed, were whisked from the house, given baths, fed, and properly clothed at Cedars Home. Seven adults in the three-room shack were booked and jailed at police headquarters, six of them on drunk charges.

The arrests were made at 8:55 Sunday morning.

Policewoman Hulda Roper found this scene, according to her reports, when she checked into the home with the aid of other officers:

Beer cans littered the kitchen table. Liquor bottles were thrown about on the floor. A man and a woman were found in one of the bedrooms. The children, ages 2, 4, 5, and 9, were cramped into a back bedroom with a single bed at one end.

Food Scarce

Unfed, the children had little prospect of a nourishing breakfast. The refrigerator contained a can of beer, two eggs, a few strips of bacon, some butter, and a package of lard.

No milk.

Mrs. Roper reported she investigated the conditions of the home on the complaint of an unidentified caller. The report was justified, she said.

The policewoman said she will ask the children be taken from the custody of the parents through action of Juvenile Court. Pictures were taken of the home and the children to back up the complaint.

Mrs. Roper said both county and state agencies have offered help to the family, as have private groups. None seems to have been of any avail.

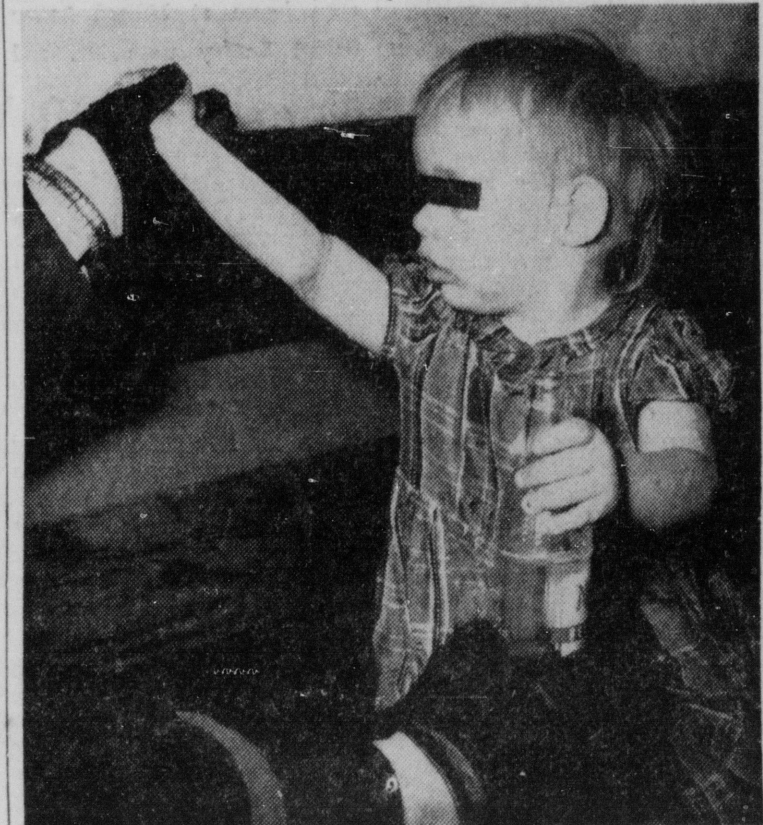

The father had undergone treatment for excessive drinking at a state hospital, authorities said. He was found drunk two days after his release.

The mother, who doesn't drink, has no control of the family conditions, according to Mrs. Roper. Two of the seven adults in the home were women. The one found in a bedroom with the man, Mrs. Roper said, has had two children taken away from her by court action.

Her husband is hospitalized with an accident injury.

The outlook for the children may be brighter from here on in, Mrs. Roper concluded.

Forgotten Children Placed In Home

Officer Frank Soucek does what he can to comfort these four neglected children ranging in age from 2 to 9. Police found them unfed and dirty at their home while a drinking party was in progress. They were removed to Cedars Home for Children while police jailed seven adults, including the parents of the children. All except the mother, were booked on drunk charges. At the upper right, this pathetic two-year-old displays an ugly scar on her arm which police say she got while playing unattended with a moving washing machine roller. Faces have been blocked out purposely to prevent identification. (Star Staff Photos)

UTAH MAN WHO MAILED 2-STORY BRICK BANK 175 MILES IS DEAD

HAYDEN, Utah (AP)—The man who mailed a two-story bank to eastern Utah has died here. He was 72-year-old William Horace Coltharp, pioneer Utah businessman and president of the bank of Vernal.

When Coltharp built his bank in nearby Vernal, Utah, in 1919, he discovered he could save $1.45 on each hundred pounds of bricks by shipping them from Salt Lake City via parcel post rather than by rail-road freight.

The thousands of bricks needed to build the structure all went parcel post. And, because there was no direct mail route between Salt Lake and Vernal—175 miles apart—the post office had to ship the bricks over a 407-mile route south

VA Building Corp. Owners To Meet

Bennett S. Martin, president of the Veterans Building Corporation, will report to stockholders at their ninth annual meeting Monday that the 12th and O building, formerly the Security Mutual Insurance building, continues under lease to the government with the principal tenant as the Veterans Administration.

Other government agencies also occupy space in the building, and all first floor space is rented to commercial tenants. The current lease runs to March 23, 1957.

The government has an option to extend it for a year, before a new lease must be negotiated, according to Martin.

Israel Receives Dozen Jet Planes

French 'Mystere' Fighters To Be Shown Before Dag Visit

TEL AVIV, Israel (U-P)—Twelve Mystere jet fighters have been received from France and will be put on public parade Monday in connection with Israel's celebration of its independence, a high Israeli military source said.

The informant said the planes, which he indicated would somewhat equalize for a time the delivery of Soviet MIG15 fighters to Egypt by the Communist bloc, would fly over Haifa Monday for the Israeli public to see for the first time.

The display will be just the day before U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrives for conferences with Israeli officials on his Security Council mission of tamping down the embers of a new war in the Middle East.

Dag Works Late

Hammarskjold, at his headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon, worked with his staff until 4 a.m. following a surprise automobile tour of the tense Gaza Strip border and southern Israel. He crossed the bustling demarcation line en route from Cairo to Beirut.

In the week he has been in the Middle East, Hammarskjold has succeeded in relieving the tension somewhat and shootings across the Israeli-Egyptian border have almost stopped. Both sides have agreed unconditionally to refrain from violence except in self-defense, but Hammarskjold's aides have declined to say whether both sides have actually given orders to their troops to make the agreement effective.

Sirens Wail

The wail of air raid sirens throughout Israel Sunday ushered in national remembrance day in honor of those killed in the war with the Arab states eight years ago. Memorial lights were kindled at military cemeteries and flags flew at half staff.

President Izhak Ben-Zvi, in connection with the observance of Independence day Monday, issued a message urging Israel's youth to prepare for "defense against any attack by the enemy who threatens to destroy us."

Location Secret

The whereabouts of the 12 Mystere fighters said by the military informant to have been delivered at last have been a secret for some time.

Informed sources in Paris and Rome said some weeks ago they had been delivered. But the French officially threw cold water on the reports.

In order to deter the Arabs from eventually attacking, Israel would need many items of armament, including more jet fighters and tanks to hold the Egyptian frontier, the military informant said.

4 U.S. Destroyers Sail To Mid-East

NEWPORT, R. I. (U-P)—Four Newport-based destroyers sailed Sunday for the troubled Mediterranean area.

Some 100 dependents of the 1,000 crewmen were on hand to wave good-bye as the destroyers McNair, McGowan, Lewis Hancock and The Sullivans sailed down Newport Bay.

The destroyers sailed with full combat power and full crews, some 100 sailors having volunteered to fill 26 vacancies.

The Navy in Washington has denied the sudden alert on Thursday had anything to do with the tense Mid-East situation.

27 Algerians Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria (U-P)—French troops and a strong band of Moslem rebels engaged in fierce hand-to-hand combat within 15 miles of Batna in the Aures Mountains Saturday, French headquarters disclosed.

French forces dispersed the rebel group which fled, leaving 27 bodies behind on the field of battle.

Estes Returns To N.J. As Stevenson 'Resting'

Sen. Estes Kefauver went back to New Jersey in a last-ditch bid to snare votes in the state's primary election Sunday as Adlai Stevenson announced he intends to win the party's nomination on the first convention ballot.

Political observers regarded the contest as a test of Gov. Robert Meyner's uncommitted slate against that for Sen. Kefauver. Adlai Stevenson arrived in the North Carolina sandhills resort of Southern Pines for a four-day rest combined with some campaigning.

Safe To Say

Interviewed at the farm home of his sister, Mrs. Ernest Lee, Stevenson was asked: "It's safe, isn't it, governor, to say that you're going to win on the first ballot at Chicago?"

"That's just what we intend to do," Stevenson replied.

Stevenson also predicted that he will win the Democratic preference primary in Florida although he noted that "about half the voters in Florida now are Republicans."

"You remember they came in there and gave Eisenhower that big vote in 1952?" He said he suspected many of these Republicans might vote for his opponent, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), to cause dissension in the Democratic party.

'Out To Get Me'

"It seems that since they view me as the strongest Democratic candidate, some of these elements are out to get me," said Stevenson.

Only one public appearance is scheduled for Stevenson during his visit. He will meet Tar Heel friends and supporters at an open house Monday afternoon in the Aberdeen High School gymnasium. The affair is sponsored by the Moore County Stevenson for President Club.

However, Stevenson is expected to get an opportunity to huddle with top North Carolina party leaders at a private reception and dinner before the open house event.

ADA Objects

In other Democratic political activity the national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action declared his organization probably "will sit out" the 1956 campaign if the Democrats nominate Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas or Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio for President.

Joseph L. Raun Jr., the ADA head, also said President Eisenhower has been on a "sit down strike" and done "absolutely nothing" about civil rights.

Raugh, in a radio-TV interview said he opposes Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, because the Texas "is running the Democratic party for the benefit of the Southern conservative viewpoint. Raugh didn't explain his opposition to Lausche.

Auto Hits Ditch Injuring Couple

Raymond, 28, and Betty, 25, Jacobs, of 1235 High, suffered lacerations in a one car collision at 5th and Van Dorn early Sunday.

The Jacobs were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for treatment and were hospitalized. Mrs. Jacobs was reported in fair condition and Mr. Jacobs was reported in good condition.

The sheriff's office said Raymond was driving his car west on Van Dorn when he missed a stop sign. In attempting to stop he ran the car into the ditch and embankment totally destroying the vehicle.

Vandals Take Bird Bath, Then Towels

Police don't know whether there is a connection between two thefts, but a bird bath was stolen from Mrs. George Risser of 1745 O and two towels were stolen from a clothesline at 245 D owned by Nadine L. Koehler.

Police valued the bird bath at $10 and the towels at $4.

Seven NU Seniors Perform With Symphony Orchestra

By RUTH ARDIS

Seven senior soloists were presented in an outstanding concert with the University of Nebraska Symphony Orchestra Sunday afternoon. Each musician had been chosen for the honor by fellow seniors with the approval of the faculty of the Department of Music.

Each of the soloists performed with fine musicianship and technical fluency. The large crowd in the Student Union Ballroom was enthusiastic in its applause, with special ovations being received by Joseph Feeney, Billie Croft and Shirley Hurtz.

Fine Balance

Karen Beghtol of Lincoln, organist, appeared in Handel's "Larghetto and Allegro from Concerto No. 13"—more familiarly known as "The Cuckoo and the Nightingale". Some lovely contrapuntal effects between the organ and orchestra were achieved, with a fine balance obtained throughout the work.

Sue Kirkman of Tecumseh, soprano, displayed a pleasing soprano voice in "Voi lo sapete from Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni.

Virginia McPeck of Geneva, violinist, was featured in the very popular "Allegro from Symphonie Espagnole" by Lalo. Miss McPeck played the work with style, and was most effective in the passages played in the lower register.

Jack McKie of Lincoln, trumpeteer, performed "Hymne" by Casadesu. The work was arranged for this performance by Jack Snider, member of the music faculty. The beautiful chorale-like accompaniment provided a fine background for the sustained tones of the soloist.

Tenor Performs

Joseph Feeney of Grand Island, tenor, gave a fine performance of "Cielo e mar from La Gioconda" by Ponchielli. His soaring lyric voice was recently heard in the tenor lead of the University production of "La Boheme".

Billie Croft of Fremont, percussionist, showed her versatility with many of the instruments in Schreiner's "Der Pauker in Aengsten." Although this title may be translated very broadly as "The Drummer's Dilemma" Miss Croft tossed it off so casually that it left the audience feeling that she could easily have managed a dozen more instruments at the same time.

Shirley Hurtz of Wymore, pianist, provided a fine finale for the concert with an outstanding performance of Tschickowsky's "Allegro from Piano Concerto". Miss Hurtz plays with much technical facility, and both soloist and orchestra gave a masterful interpretation.

The orchestra, under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow, performed admirably throughout the entire concert.

The University Singers, under Dr. Westbrook, will give their Spring Concert Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. at the student Union Ballroom.

NAMED MISS LINCOLN

Of 15 contestants for the title of Miss Lincoln, all were University of Nebraska co-eds, but only one listed her home as Lincoln. That one — Miss Diane Knotek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reese of 1805 Perkins—was named Miss Lincoln Sunday night. A panel of five judges selected her on the basis of intelligence, personality, poise, talent, face and figure beauty. Here she is crowned by the 1955 Miss Lincoln, Miss Sandra Spicher of Omaha, also a University student. Second place winner was Rebecca J. Kinne of Sabev, and third place was Nancy C. Carmody of West Point. Jacquelyn Miller of Omaha and Phyllis Bonner of Imperial were also finalists. Miss Knotek, who sang a solo for the judges, will compete against contestants from Chadron, Hartington, Scottsbluff, Wakefield, Chappell, Alliance, Omaha, O'Neill, Columbus and Sidney at the Miss Nebraska contest to be held at Sidney June 12 and 13. Sharon Kay Ritchie of Grand Island, reigning Miss America, will preside at the Sidney event. (Star Photo.)

Pen Trusty Faces Escape Charges

Escape charges will be filed against Fred L. Kimes, 38, Penitentiary trusty who escaped from the prison farm Saturday afternoon, according to Deputy Warden John Greenholtz.

Kimes was brought to Lincoln Sunday morning after being held overnight in the Gage County jail at Beatrice. Greenholtz said an officer drove to Beatrice to get Kimes.

Kimes, serving a two-year term for forgery in Dawson County, walked away from the prison farm between noon and 5 p.m. Saturday and was picked up about 8 p.m. near Beatrice by State Trooper R. J. Liekhus.

Hall Calls:

TRUMAN 'ONE OF WORST PRESIDENTS'

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall Sunday called Harry Truman "one of the worst presidents in American history" and accused him of "sniping from the sidelines at one of the best."

In a statement to be distributed to GOP leaders convening here Monday for a party strategy conference, Hall said:

"Mr. Truman is a disgruntled, frustrated man who is jealous of President Eisenhower and will do everything to tear down his great record and his great popularity."

'Trumanism'

Hall said one segment of the Democratic party wants to "inject Trumanism into the 1956 campaign."

Truman has made half a dozen major speeches this year and has been increasingly active in recent weeks, Hall said. He added:

"His role in the coming campaign is clear—it's to drag it right down to the level he learned so well under Tom Pendergast in Kansas City."

Hall accused Truman of allowing Russia to overrun Eastern Europe, weakening the armed forces before the Korean War, inviting a Red attack on South Korea and betraying Nationalist China.

Raymond Baker, City Printer, Dies Of Heart Attack

Raymond Baker, 40, of 3427 Laura, owner of Baker's Print Shop, died Sunday night of a heart attack at his home.

The fire department resuscitator squad was unable to revive Mr. Baker after using its equipment for nearly 20 minutes.

Mr. Baker had lived in Lincoln for 10 years, and was a member of St. Teresa's Catholic Church, and the Men's Club. He also belonged to Knights of Columbus and Exchange Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mary Rae, at home; five brothers, Charles and Martin of Elkhart, Ind.; Henry and Frank of Atchison, Kan.; and John of Topeka, Kan.; and four sisters, Mrs. Katherine McGrath of Elkhart, Sister Imogene Baker, and two sisters at Atchison.

Meet the fabulous Jean Adams, whose amazing weight-reducing experience was featured in the March issue of a popular woman's magazine.

Before dieting, she weighed 250 pounds. Today, transformed into a trim, attractive homemaker, her 26" waist easily accommodates a size 14 dress.

"It was no easy job to lose 100 pounds in 12 months' time," she admits. "And it's not easy to keep from gaining it back, either! That's why Roberts VADA has been a life-saver in my maintenance diet. It's nourishing. It's appetizing. It provides important vitamins, minerals and protein. But it contains only a small amount of butterfat; — just one-half of one percent!"

Perhaps you, too, are on a reducing or maintenance diet. If you are—or if you should be—write for a free copy of the tasty menus used and recommended by Jean Adams. Just drop a post card to Roberts Dairy, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Israel Receives Dozen Jet Planes

French 'Mystere' Fighters To Be Shown Before Dag Visit

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Twelve Mystere jet fighters have been received from France and will be put on public parade Monday in connection with Israel's celebration of its independence, a high Israeli military source said.

The informant said the planes, which he indicated would somewhat equalize for a time the delivery of Soviet MIG15 fighters to Egypt by the Communist bloc, would fly over Haifa Monday for the Israeli public to see for the first time.

The display will be just the day before U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrives for conferences with Israeli officials on his Security Council mission of tamping down the embers of a new war in the Middle East.

Dag Works Late

Hammarskjold, at his headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon, worked with his staff until 4 a.m. following a surprise automobile tour of the tense Gaza Strip border and southern Israel. He crossed the bustling demarcation line en route from Cairo to Beirut.

In the week he has been in the Middle East, Hammarskjold has succeeded in relieving the tension somewhat and shootings across the Israeli-Egyptian border have almost stopped. Both sides have agreed unconditionally to refrain from violence except in self-defense, but Hammarskjold's aides have declined to say whether both sides have actually given orders to their troops to make the agreement effective.

Sirens Wail

The wall of air raid sirens throughout Israel Sunday ushered in national remembrance day in honor of those killed in the war with the Arab states eight years ago. Memorial lights were kindled at military cemeteries and flags flew at half staff.

President Izhak Ben-Zvi, in connection with the observance of Independence day Monday, issued a message urging Israel's youth to prepare for "defense against any attack by the enemy who threatens to destroy us."

Location Secret

The whereabouts of the 12 Mystere fighters said by the military informant to have been delivered at last have been a secret for some time.

Informed sources in Paris and Rome said some weeks ago they had been delivered. But the French officially threw cold water on the reports.

In order to deter the Arabs from eventually attacking, Israel would need many items of armament, including more jet fighters and tanks to hold the Egyptian frontier, the military informant said.

4 U.S. Destroyers Sail To Mid-East

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Four Newport-based destroyers sailed Sunday for the troubled Mediterranean area.

Some 100 dependents of the 1,000 crewmen were on hand to wave good-bye as the destroyers McNair, McGowan, Lewis Hancock and The Sullivans sailed down Newport Bay.

The destroyers sailed with full combat power and full crews, some 100 sailors having volunteered to fill 26 vacancies.

The Navy in Washington has denied the sudden alert on Thursday had anything to do with the tense Mid-East situation.

27 Algerians Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—French troops and a strong band of Moslem rebels engaged in fierce hand-to-hand combat within 15 miles of Batna in the Aures Mountains Saturday, French headquarters disclosed.

French forces dispersed the rebel group which fled, leaving 27 bodies behind on the field of battle.

Vandals Cut Fuel Hose; 250 Gal. Diesel Lost

More than 250 gallons of diesel fuel ran out on the ground from a fuel tank at the Abbott Construction Company at 625 Plum when vandals cut a rubber hose on the tank.

Police valued the damage and loss at $47.50.

Estes Returns To N.J. As Stevenson 'Resting'

Sen. Estes Kefauver went back to New Jersey in a last-ditch bid to snare votes in the state's primary election Sunday as Adlai Stevenson announced he intends to win the party's nomination on the first convention ballot.

Political observers regarded the contest as a test of Gov. Robert Meyner's uncommitted slate against that for Sen. Kefauver.

Adlai Stevenson arrived in the North Carolina sandhills resort of Southern Pines for a four-day rest combined with some campaigning.

Safe To Say

Interviewed at the farm home of his sister, Mrs. Ernest Ives, Stevenson was asked: "It's safe, isn't it, governor, to say that you're going to win on the first ballot at Chicago?"

"That's just what we intend to do," Stevenson replied.

Stevenson also predicted that he will win the Democratic preference primary in Florida although he noted that "about half the voters in Florida now are Republicans."

"You remember they came in there and gave Eisenhower that big vote in 1952," He said he suspected many of these Republicans might vote for his opponent, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), to cause dissension in the Democratic party.

'Out To Get Me'

"It seems that since they view me as the strongest Democratic candidate, some of these elements are out to get me," said Stevenson.

Only one public appearance is scheduled for Stevenson during his visit. He will meet Tar Heel friends and supporters at an open house Monday afternoon in the Aberdeen High School gymnasium. The affair is sponsored by the Moore County Stevenson for President Club.

However, Stevenson is expected to get an opportunity to huddle

with top North Carolina party leaders at a private reception and dinner before the open house event.

ADA Objects

In other Democratic political activity the national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action declared his organization probably "will sit out" the 1956 campaign if the Democrats nominate Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas or Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio for President.

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., the ADA head, also said President Eisenhower has been on a "sit down strike" and done "absolutely nothing" about civil rights.

Rauh, in a radio-TV interview said he opposes Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, because the Texan "is running the Democratic party for the benefit of the Southern conservative viewpoint. Rauh didn't explain his opposition to Lausche.

Auto Hits Ditch Injuring Couple

Raymond, 28, and Betty, 25, Jacobs, of 1235 High, suffered lacerations in a one car collision at 5th and Van Dorn early Sunday.

The Jacobs were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for treatment and were hospitalized. Mrs. Jacobs was reported in fair condition and Mr. Jacobs was reported in good condition.

The sheriff's office said Raymond was driving his car west on Van Dorn when he missed a stop sign. In attempting to stop he ran the car into the ditch and embankment totally destroying the vehicle.

Vandals Take Bird Bath, Then Towels

Police don't know whether there is a connection between two thefts, but a bird bath was stolen from Mrs. George Risser of 1745 O and two towels were stolen from a clothesline at 245 D owned by Nadine L. Koehler.

Police valued the bird bath at $10 and the towels at $4.

NAMED MISS LINCOLN

Of 15 contestants for the title of Miss Lincoln, all were University of Nebraska co-eds, but only one listed her home as Lincoln. That one — Miss Diane Knotek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reese of 1805 Perkins—was named Miss Lincoln Sunday night. A panel of five judges selected her on the basis of intelligence, personality, poise, talent, face and figure beauty. Here she is crowned by the 1955 Miss Lincoln, Miss Sandra Speicher of Omaha, also a University student. Second place winner was Reba J. Kinne of Sidney, and third place was Nancy C. Carmody of West Point. Jacquelyn Miller of Omaha and Phyllis Bonner of Imperial were also finalists. Miss Knotek, who sang a solo for the judges, will compete against contestants from Chadron, Hartington, Scottsbluff, Wakefield, Chappell, Alliance, Omaha, O'Neill, Columbus and Sidney at the Miss Nebraska contest to be held at Sidney June 12 and 13. Sharon Kay Ritchie of Grand Island, reigning Miss America, will preside at the Sidney event. (Star Photo.)

Pen Trusty Faces Escape Charges

Escape charges will be filed against Fred L. Kimes, 33, Penitentiary trusty who escaped from the prison farm Saturday afternoon, according to Deputy Warden John Greenholtz.

Kimes was brought to Lincoln Sunday morning after being held overnight in the Gage County jail at Beatrice. Greenholtz said an officer drove to Beatrice to get Kimes.

Kimes, serving a two-year term for forgery in Dawson County, walked away from the prison farm between noon and 5 p.m. Saturday and was picked up about 8 p.m. near Beatrice by State Trooper R. J. Liekhus.

Hall Calls:

TRUMAN 'ONE OF WORST PRESIDENTS'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall Sunday called Harry Truman "one of the worst presidents in American history" and accused him of "sniping from the sidelines at one of the best."

In a statement to be distributed to GOP leaders convening here Monday for a party strategy conference, Hall said:

"Mr. Truman is a disgruntled, frustrated man who is jealous of President Eisenhower and will do everything to tear down his great record and his great popularity."

'Trumanism'

Hall said one segment of the Democratic party wants to "inject Trumanism into the 1956 campaign."

Truman has made half a dozen major speeches this year and has been increasingly active in recent weeks, Hall said. He added:

"His role in the coming campaign is clear—it's to drag it right down to the level he learned so well under Tom Pendergast in Kansas City."

Raymond Baker, City Printer, Dies Of Heart Attack

Raymond Baker, 40, of 3427 Laura, owner of Baker's Print Shop, died Sunday night of a heart attack at his home.

The fire department resuscitator squad was unable to revive Mr. Baker after using its equipment for nearly 20 minutes.

Mr. Baker had lived in Lincoln for 10 years, and was a member of St. Teresa's Catholic Church, and the Men's Club. He also belonged to Knights of Columbus and Exchange Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mary Rae, at home; five brothers, Charles and Martin of Elkhart, Ind.; Henry and Frank of Atchison, Kan., and John of Topeka, Kan.; and four sisters, Mrs. Katherine McGrath of Elkhart, Sister Imogene Baker, and two sisters at Atchison.

Lincoln Star Special

SUPERIOR, Neb. — A retired Army officer, Col. Doane F. Kiechel, who lives at 2020 Worthington in Lincoln, is resuming this week the editorial tasks he handled here a quarter of a century ago.

He will be "guest editor" of the Superior Express while its publisher, Howard M. Crilly, and Mrs. Crilly spend four months in Europe.

In 1926 Kiechel, then a young lawyer here, took over the management of the weekly newspaper when its owner, C. E. Dedrick, left the work because of illness.

Kiechel managed the paper until 1931, when the plant was sold. He was Nuckolls County Judge for eight years before entering military service in 1940. He retired from the Regular Army last July and he and Mrs. Kiechel moved to Lincoln.

Last fall he returned to school, taking "refresher courses" in law and journalism at the University of Nebraska.

First City Hall At Hastings Being Razed

HASTINGS, Neb. — A Hastings landmark, the original City Hall, is being torn down.

The land on which the building stands has been purchased by Mrs. Bernice K. Lippincott and will be used as an extension to the Lippincott's adjoining service station.

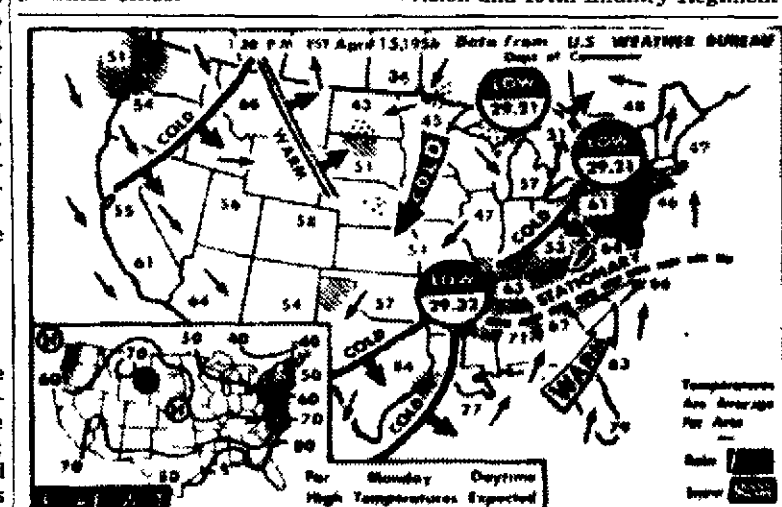

The structure was built as a city hall and was located at the southeast corner of the courthouse square.

It was later purchased, moved to its present location and used as a dental office.

Armory At Norfolk To Be Dedicated

NORFOLK, Neb. — Norfolk's new $192,000 National Guard Armory will be dedicated Saturday, April 28, with Maj. Gen. Guy Henninger, state adjutant general, giving the principal address.

Among guests expected for the afternoon program are Lt. Col. John J. Prokup of Lincoln, senior Army advisor for the National Guard of the Fifth Army area, and officers of the 34th Infantry Division and 184th Infantry Regiment.

Part Of State May Get A Little Snow

Snow flurries are forecast for scattered parts of the country and rainy weather is due in the New England and Middle Atlantic states and the Pacific Northwest. It will be cooler in the eastern third of the nation, warmer in the west. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

MAILMEN AT GENEVA CONQUER AFFLICTIONS OF THEIR TRADE

GENEVA, Neb. — The natural afflictions of letter carriers—sore feet and shoulders—have been conquered at Geneva where mailmen have turned to motor scooters.

Carriers Bill Fussell, Lou Domeier and Bill Biegert have been using the scooters for a considerable time and say they wouldn't go back to lugging the mail on foot for anything.

For about 20 cents a day, the three men ride around their routes, parking their scooters in front of the homes, delivering the mail—and then on to the next house.

Science Learns How To Stop Asthma Attacks

Doctors Find New Tiny Tablet Gives Relief In Minutes ... Lasts For Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has developed a new, tiny tablet that stops asthma attacks ... and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

Authoritative medical tests have proved that this remarkable compound brings blessed relief in mere minutes ... relief that lasts for hours.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients. And now asthma sufferers can obtain this formula — without prescription — in tiny easy-to-take tablets called Primatene®.

New Primatene helps relieve asthma spasms three important ways: (1) opens bronchial tubes so that breathing is natural; (2) loosens mucous congestion; (3) relieves taut, nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections, and without the inconvenience of nebulizers.

The secret of Primatene is that it combines 3 medicines found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each medicine performs a special purpose.

Primatene is available at all drug stores. The price is only 99¢ for a bottle of twenty-four tablets. And remember — if not entirely satisfied, your money will be refunded promptly.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from anxiety by day. Get Primatene, today!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical science has developed a new, tiny tablet that stops asthma attacks... and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

Authoritative medical tests have proved that this remarkable compound brings blessed relief in mere minutes... relief that lasts for hours.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients. And now asthma sufferers can obtain this formula without prescription — in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

New Primatene helps relieve asthma spasms these important

MAILMEN AT GENEVA CONQUER AFFLICTIONS OF THEIR TRADE

GENEVA, Neb. — The natural afflictions of letter carriers—sore feet and shoulders—have been conquered at Geneva where mailmen have turned to motor scooters.

Carriers Ben Fussell, Lou Doemer and Bill Biebert have been using the scooters for a considerable time and say they wouldn't go back to lugging the mail on foot for anything.

For about 20 cents a day, the three men ride around their routes, parking their scooters in front of the homes, delivering the mail—and then on to the next house.

Economy
"In addition to the pain-saving advantages," said Fussell, "we save a good deal on shoe leather."

As far as the Geneva carriers know, they're the only motorized mailmen in Nebraska.

The one major drawback to this advantage of the machine age is the dog.

The men report the scooters' noise seems to irritate dogs, and since Geneva is a town with many dogs, "it's a constant race."

There are not many days off for a newspaperman and this is especially true of the Nebraska weekly editor.

He is a printer, an editor, a business man and a town builder. And that, together with his home life, takes about all the hours of the day everyday.

The exception is the annual meeting of the Nebraska Press Association and the 87th one was concluded at week end at Omaha with more than 200 attending.

The newspaper came to Nebraska with territorial organization and antedates the association by 25 years, but an 87th annual convention related to any community activity is a venerable one, bespeaking establishment, need and worthy service.

It is hard to estimate the value and the extent of community service performed by the community newspapers but it has been immense. And the Nebraskans are continuing in the tradition. Most cherished traditions, as usual, this year went to those who did outstanding things to make their neighborhoods better places in which to live.

Nebraskans generally will nod approval for the publishers and editors who took their several days off with the admonishment, of course, to hurry home. It wouldn't do to miss an edition.

Somewhat Belatedly

The city of Lincoln is about to pat itself on the back. Its gesture comes for negotiating a new contract for the purchase of power from the Nebraska Public Power System—a contract which, conservatively estimated, will save the city some $50,000 a year. It could have had the same contract, substantially, an approximate six years ago except for the stubbornness and uncompromising attitude of Lincoln city government then.

There is something to be said for back-slapping, perhaps, for coming to see the light in the negotiation of a contract for electricity, but there also should be some red faces before arms are twisted out of place. It may be water over the dam but if it is, it is also money out of the pocket to ask what took us so long to get down to common sense, and to economize.

The last permanent contract between Lincoln and the NPPS expired in August of 1952. Since then the city has been purchasing electricity from NPPS on a temporary contract which contained a rate higher than either the old one or the one that is now up for and certain to receive approval. The amazing thing is that NPPS offered Lincoln the rate which it is now going to take way, way back in 1949. Why did Lincoln fail to accept the offer and choose to pay through the nose for the past six years? The simple answer is that those who had the say for the city of Lincoln apparently didn't want to do business with NPPS.

Alibi No. 1 back in 1949 and until recently was that under its charter, the city was forbidden to enter into a 10-year contract such as NPPS insisted upon. This alibi now has vanished into thin air—clearly an alibi—since the new contract recommended to the city and expected to receive hearty approval by the members of the City Council is a 10-year proposition.

Next, Lincoln wanted its purchased power pooled with those of a number of other cities buying from NPPS so that all those cities would exceed the advantage of volume buying. This was known commonly as consolidated billing—a practice as far away from Lincoln today and for other communities as it was in 1949. Consolidated

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It was on-again, off-again, for Nebraska's Gov. Vic Anderson. One of those originally listed to make a trip east to plead with President Eisenhower for approval of the compromise farm bill passed by the House and the Senate, it was reported that Gov. Anderson would ask his associates to let the President know that he, Anderson, shared their feelings on the compromise farm bill, but would not join the party going to Augusta, Me. of Iowa, Hall of Kansas, Foss of South Dakota had all indicated they would take to the air to urge Ike to sign a bill which the President branded as bad legislation. The only excuse for signing it, apparently, is that this is a presidential election year.

There, could be a reason why a farm program is in trouble. If people sign it to get votes instead of signing it because they think it will contribute to the good health of America, there is very little chance a farm program will work out. This bill which the President either must veto or sign may not be all it is cracked up to be and it may not satisfy all of the people, but it is a whole lot better than what we now have, or what was proposed by the administration. Benson is only an incident in all of this controversy. He does not like the bill which substantial majorities of both branches of Congress said was needed to restore American agriculture. Now, if Mr. Benson cannot administer this bill, he should resign. When we say "administer," we mean carrying it out not only to the letter but in the spirit in which Congress passed the legislation. Benson is only one man, and a highly controversial one at that.

This writer can subscribe 100 per cent to the suggestion made to Mayor Clark Jeary that the portion of 15th Street richly deserves to be renamed "Nebraska Avenue" or something of a more stimulating, imaginative character than "15th Street." If a personal reference can be forgiven, I chanced to be president of the Historical Society through all the years that its new building was in construction. In the discussion prior to the actual steps of construction, invariably I told my colleagues that some day the vista looking down 15th Street upon Nebraska's magnificent Capitol from the second-floor windows of the Historical Society would be one of the most glorious views provided by the Nebraska capital.

When the leaves have gone in the late autumn or winter, to look from the second-floor windows of the home of the Historical Society south to the Capitol is all that one could desire and more, too. It is a truly delightful vista. In the national capital, that spectacular, satisfying avenue leading from Capitol Hill to the White House grounds—Pennsylvania Avenue—always was in the back of my mind whenever I thought of the opportunities in these years ahead in developing 15th Street between Nebraska's Capitol and the new Historical Society building facing R Street at the terminus of 15th. We happened to be looking out of those south windows a few months ago. It is a thrilling view. And this suggestion by a visitor that the name should be changed to "Nebraska Avenue" is a good one.

To look, Lincoln's streets could well be revised to perpetuate the memory of distinguished sons and daughters of this state and of this community.

Estes Gets No Aid From Jersey Pros

WASHINGTON — In 1953 when Bob Meyner, the young and then relatively unknown New Jerseyite, was running for governor of the Garden State, he appealed to another young Democrat, Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, to come north and make some speeches for him.

Kefauver did so. He dug into the files of his crime probe, picked out some interesting facts about New Jersey racketeers, some of them linked with Republicans, and delivered some hard-hitting speeches which helped elect a Democratic governor of New Jersey for the first time in 15 years.

Last week Kefauver was back in Meyner's state seeking delegates for himself at the Chicago convention. But he is getting no reciprocity from the governor he helped elect.

The two men have had some pleasant, friendly meetings, the first at the Essex House in New York, where Meyner came to see the senator from Tennessee.

"I love you, Estes," was the gist of Meyner's conversation, "and I appreciate what you once did for me. But I'm not going to give you any help in the primary."

BIG TEST

Actually the New Jersey primary tomorrow boils down to one of the most important battles of the pre-convention period. On one side, Kefauver will be trying to keep the lead over Stevenson he established in Minnesota. On the other side, Meyner, who has now thrown his lot with Stevenson, will be trying to keep his own prestige in New Jersey by taking delegates away from Kefauver's delegates which are unpledged, but which would probably go to Stevenson if controlled by Meyner.

Likewise, John Kenny, boss of the old Hague machine in Jersey City—a city where the tall Tennesseean unearthed plenty of crime—will be out to protect his machine. He is dead opposed to Kefauver.

Kefauver has had terrific crowds, one of the biggest right in Kenny's own Jersey City balliwick. In Newark, the crowds were so enthusiastic that Mayor Leo Carlin, who had planned to stay neutral, came up to congratulate Kefauver. Whether the enthusiasm of the crowds can be translated into delegate strength will test out whether New Jersey local leaders can be any stronger than the local leaders of Minnesota.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ammo Stockpiling In Morse-McKay Battle

PORTLAND, Ore. — Republican Target No. 1 in the congressional campaign this fall is Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse, and already the sound of knives being sharpened is loud in the land.

President Eisenhower himself is said to take a warm personal interest in the defeat of Morse, who has been his most blunt and outspoken critic. The personal intervention of the President put Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay into the lists to slay the dragon.

The alarm was sounded, according to reports here, by Ralph H. Calkins, former Republican national committeeman, who phoned presidential assistant Sherman Adams to say that a private poll showed that only McKay could defeat Morse. This call to action came only a few days before the final date for filing in the primary.

McKay, who had had no intention of running for the Senate, and, in fact, had begun to congratulate himself that he would not be "drafted" for this onerous undertaking, was summoned to the White House. There he was given a presidential pat on the head and a firm shove in the direction of Oregon by Adams.

He arrived one day before the filing deadline to the great surprise of Republican party leaders. They had had no advance notice that the White House was to enter its man in the race. One consequence of this lack of co-ordination is a feeling of resentment among some Republicans at this belated intervention.

The candidate who had been tapped to run against Morse, Gov. Paul Patterson, dropped dead of a heart attack at a meeting at which strategy was being charted. Several Republicans thereupon entered the race.

Two of them, Lamar Tootz, a Portland lawyer, and Phil Hitchcock, former member of the state legislature and active in church groups, had considerable backing. The day after he arrived in Portland to file as a candidate, McKay had Tootz and Hitchcock to lunch to inform them that he held the White House would run.

"That means then, that we'll get out," Tootz said. But Hitchcock, who has a strong independent streak, refused. He pointed out that he had made commitments around the state and had accepted contributions on the assumption he would go through with his campaign right up to the primary on May 18.

So McKay and Hitchcock are rivals, although by a "gentleman's agreement" they are avoiding attacks on each other.

Jersey campaign late, had to get his own delegates into the race late, says he'll be satisfied to carry 10 out of 36 delegates.

DEEPENING CRISIS

It is now possible to report more details on the closed-door conference between Secretary of State Dulles and bipartisan congressional leaders over the threatening war clouds in the Near East.

"The President," Dulles said, "has requested me to brief you gentlemen on the seriousness of the situation."

He then proceeded to sketch a picture of deepening crisis. One thing which disturbed him was the cable reports from U.S. embassies in Cairo and Tel Aviv that both Premier Nasser of Egypt and President Ben-Gurion of Israel had become increasingly hostile. Previously they had been receptive to suggestions for peace, but not recently.

Another disturbing part of Mr. Dulles' report was that Russians are organizing Moslem troops behind the Iron Curtain apparently to send so-called "volunteers" in to help the Arabs, just as Chinese "volunteers" swarmed a all over Korea. Dulles said the State Department is watching this very closely.

NO CONGRESSIONAL O.K.?

The secretary of state seemed loath to reveal just what plans the Eisenhower administration had, if any, to deal with the worsening crisis. He stated flatly, however, that the President is prepared to intervene in the Near East, and made it clear that he wouldn't necessarily ask Congress in advance. He would ask for congressional approval, Dulles said, if he had time.

"But," added the secretary of state, "if a serious crisis develops suddenly and he hasn't time to seek congressional authorization, he will, of course, take any steps that are necessary under his own powers to stop an all-out war. The President has the power under the constitution to intervene," Dulles declared. "After all, there are American citizens in that area who must be protected."

Dulles injected a faintly optimistic note at this point by saying he was sure war would not come to the Near East in the immediate future.

"We are still confident it can be averted by diplomatic means and are doing all in our power along that line," he said.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

New Attitude Toward Council

The appointment of C. W. D. Kinsey to the vacancy which existed on the City Council brought out an interesting statement from other council members.

A Council statement released by Mayor Clark Jeary stated, "We were presented with an array of names of persons whom we were led to believe would accept the appointment."

This caused the members of the Council to be more proud of Lincoln than ever. To know that people of the calibre of those who were mentioned would render this service was heartening."

While the Council had no intention of putting itself on the back, the statement is a compliment to both the Council and Mr. Kinsey. It wasn't too many years ago that finding someone to run the affairs of the city was quite a task. Public confidence in the City Council was at a very low point and men and women of substantial stature had no desire to become a part of such an atmosphere.

However, under the guidance of Mayor Jeary and before him the now Gov. Victor Anderson, service on the Council has become a man more sought-after position. This has not been accomplished through any infallibility on the part of either man or those who served with them, because mistakes have been made. The improvement is the result of nothing more than a sincere desire to do the best possible job and the sacrifice of sufficient time to accomplish it.

A former attitude of "what can I get out of it" has changed to "what can I give" through service.

Bill Dobler

ing on the Council. This has led to increased efficiency in all departments of the city, less political and friendly maneuvering and a greater respectability.

Seeking to strengthen this condition, the Council selected Mr. Kinsey to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme. Other than whatever minor satisfaction he may derive from the job, the Council and others acquainted with Mr. Kinsey know there is nothing he could "get" or "want" out of the appointment. On the contrary, his acceptance was at a personal sacrifice of time which he was willing to make.

The fact that Mr. Kinsey was picked from "an array of names," including a number of outstanding citizens, is further tribute by his colleagues to his ability.

While not intending to question the merits of either proposal, a point has been raised in connection with the proposal to combine the medical center and park development bond issue.

Actually, about the only thing the two issues have in common is their location. Outside of the site, the two proposals seem to be no more comparable than a park and library, a park and the city-county building or a park and any other of public or semi-public buildings.

The greatest objection to the combined $1.8 million issue for the medical center and park development at 33rd and O seems to come from those who favor the park plan. The total combined issue will include $300,000 for improvements to the Rogers Tract as a recreational center.

It is felt by some that the $300,000 would stand a better chance of getting the voter's approval if it were on the ballot by itself. A $300,000 bond issue for the park might look pretty good to some people while a $4.8 million bond issue might scare them off.

The City Council acted wisely when it tabled without second reading two annexation ordinances. The ordinances covered tracts along West O and the Cornhusker Highway.

The ordinances had residents and property owners in both areas in a state of uproar. There is considerable opposition in both areas to annexation, and incorporation of at least the West O area may have been pushed through before annexation could have been accomplished. By tabling the ordinances, the Council stalled off the incorporation move.

The big difficulty is that those people who want city water, yet oppose annexation, simply want to eat their cake and have it too. They want city water service, yet they want no part of paying for other services which they also have. Living outside the city, they have the benefit of city parks, city streets, city police and fire protection, city courts of law, city libraries and a host of other services for which they pay no city taxes.

If the fringe areas around Lincoln are against annexation, the city should be in no hurry for it. From an economic standpoint, the annexation would be a financial loss for the city. City officials estimate that the taxes that would be produced in the two areas would not amount to anything near the cost of extending city services.

If Lincoln had plenty of water, it would be a fine thing to sell it outside the city limits—but this is not the case. If the people who pay city taxes are short of water, why should the deficiency be increased by giving service to those who want no part of city taxes?

Other Surpluses

Broken Bow, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are many things I don't understand. For instance why this constant waiting about farm surpluses? We don't hear of much concern over the mountains of surplus war materials that are being piled up, just in case. Doesn't this take as much or more of our tax dollars to produce and maintain as it does to store farm products? Is it any more necessary in case of war?

We don't see many Republicans getting grey-headed over the waste involved in junking a lot of obsolete war machinery because it wasn't used before it became out of date. Is it because these things are produced by big business concerns like General Motors, for instance, and many of our Republican leaders are especially interested in these concerns?

Why, then, must they cry their eyes out if some of our farm surplus spoils or is wasted, or if it costs a lot to store it? Is there some law that says it's perfectly all right if big business gets fat over the possibility of another war, but the farmers should be patriotic enough to produce an abundance of food non-profit? I just don't understand.

MRS. JAMES NELSON
Sterling, Neb.

Whose Fault?

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been wanting to write this letter for some time, but just didn't know how to put it all into words. It's this — I think most of the trouble with the young people these days is largely the fault of us older folks. Every time we listen to the news, it's robbery, shooting, divorces. The television programs for the young folks include crime shows. And why in the world isn't there a law to shut all liquor stores at six o'clock on Saturday evening and leave them closed until Monday morning? Men and women sit in those places and spend their money when they should be at home getting themselves and their children ready for church and Sunday school.

And I think, too, that cars now built to go 70 and 80 miles an hour should have a 50-mile maximum. For doctors or police cars, the higher speeds would be O.K. Just think how many lives are wiped out because of all that speed. And the speed, too, is the fault of the older folks.

MRS. D. W.

No. Wheel Tax

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A tired taxpayer says that his answer to Mayor Jeary's wheel tax is "No."

Now this tired taxpayer wrote an article with a big "No" to the bond issue in the June election. If they pass it will add another tax on your home. If it is of high value you'll be stung for a lot more taxes on the home you live in.

I was pretty well pleased with the editorial page this morning. It brought to mind where we are going with taxes to the hilt.

Let's fight wheel taxes no matter what for.

BEN S. KECK

The Wherry Houses

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the past few months we have had two great national scandals come to light, the Private Power lobby with its $2,500 campaign fund for senators who were voting right on the gas bills and 27 per cent depletion allowances.

Many Americans are wondering if these private lobbies are bigger than the American government itself.

The light is beginning to shine on another lobby — one of the most powerful in Washington, the Real Estate Lobby. A sample of its "achievements" was revealed recently by Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. Vinson is a conservative, but he likes to see the government get its money's worth for the billions it spends on the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Back of those charges is this story:

Until a few years ago, when the armed forces needed houses on military posts they had them built by contractors, and the government owned them immediately. The Real Estate Lobby told Congress that old fashioned method was "socialism" and put through a bill enabling private operators to build houses on military posts and rent those houses to the armed forces for periods ranging from 50 to 75 years, after which the government would "take title" to the houses and own them, or what's left of them.

This is called the "Wherry Program" because the bill was put through by the late Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb.).

Now Vinson says over a 50 year period the government is paying over $54,000 rent for a "Wherry house" which cost $9,000 or less to build. For such a house over a 75 year period, the government is paying $81,000 rent. The total cost will be $5.2 billion before the government takes a loss over the houses.

Vinson proposed that Uncle Sam take over the houses now, pay their private owners the present value of the houses and save the spending billions more dollars of the taxpayers' money for future rentals.

If the Wherry program is private enterprise, isn't it just a little bit too private for Uncle Sam's own good?

Its gesture comes for negotiating a new contract for the purchase of power from the Nebraska Public Power System—a contract which, conservatively estimated, will save the city some $50,000 a year. It could have had the same contract, substantially, an approximate six years ago except for the stubbornness and uncompromising attitude of Lincoln city government then.

There is something to be said for backslapping, perhaps, for coming to see the light in the negotiation of a contract for electricity, but there also should be some red faces before arms are twisted out of place. It may be water over the dam but if it is, it is also money out of the pocket to ask what took us so long to get down to common sense, and to economize.

The last permanent contract between Lincoln and the NPPS expired in August of 1952. Since then the city has been purchasing electricity from NPPS on a temporary contract which contained a rate higher than either the old one or the one that is now up for and certain to receive approval. The amazing thing is that NPPS offered Lincoln the rate which it is now going to take way, way back in 1949. Why did Lincoln fail to accept the offer and choose to pay through the nose for the past six years? The simple answer is that those who had the say for the city of Lincoln apparently didn't want to do business with NPPS.

Alibi No. 1 back in 1949 and until recently was that under its charter, the city was forbidden to enter into a 10-year contract such as NPPS insisted upon. This alibi now has vanished into thin air—clearly an alibi—since the new contract recommended to the city and expected to receive hearty approval by the members of the City Council is a 10-year proposition.

Next, Lincoln wanted its purchased power pooled with those of a number of other cities buying from NPPS so that all those cities would exceed the advantage of volume buying. This was known commonly as consolidated billing—a practice as far away for Lincoln today and for other communities as it was in 1949. Consoli-

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It was on-again, off-again, for Nebraska's Gov. Vic Anderson. One of those originally listed to make a trip east to plead with President Eisenhower for approval of the compromise farm bill passed by the House and the Senate, it was reported that Gov. Anderson would ask his associates to let the President know that he, Anderson, shared their feelings on the compromise farm bill, but would not join the party going to Augusta, Hoegh of Iowa, Hall of Kansas, Foss of South Dakota had all indicated they would take to the air to urge Ike to sign a bill which the President branded as bad legislation. The only excuse for signing it, apparently, is that this is a presidential election year.

There, could be a reason why a farm program is in trouble. If people sign it to get votes instead of signing it because they think it will contribute to the good health of America, there is very little chance a farm program will work out.

This bill which the President either must veto or sign may not be all it is cracked up to be and it may not satisfy all of the people, but it is a whole of a lot better than what we now have, or what was proposed by the administration. Benson is only an incident in all of this controversy. He does not like the bill which substantial majorities of both branches of Congress said was needed to restore American agriculture. Now, if Mr. Benson cannot administer this bill, he should resign. When we say "administer," we mean carrying it out not only to the letter but in the spirit in which Congress passed the legislation. Benson is only one man, and a highly controversial one at that.

This writer can subscribe 100 per cent to the suggestion made to Mayor Clark Jeary that the portion of 15th Street richly deserves to be renamed "Nebraska Avenue" or something of a more stimulative, imaginative character than "15th Street." If a personal reference can be forgiven, I chanced to be president of the Historical Society through all the years that its new building was in construction. In the discussion prior to the actual steps of construction, invariably I told my colleagues that some day the vista looking down 15th Street upon Nebraska's magnificent Capitol from the second-floor windows of the Historical Society would be one of the most glorious views provided by the Nebraska capital.

When the leaves have gone in the late autumn or winter, to look from the second-floor windows of the home of the Historical Society south to the Capitol is all that one could desire and more, too. It is a truly delightful vista. In the national capital, that spectacular, satisfying avenue leading from Capitol Hill to the White House grounds—Pennsylvania Avenue—always was in the back of my mind whenever I thought of the opportunities in these years ahead in developing 15th Street between Nebraska's Capitol and the new Historical Society building facing R Street at the terminus of 15th. We happened to be looking out of those south windows a few months ago. It is a thrilling view. And this suggestion by a visitor that the name should be changed to "Nebraska Avenue" is a good one.

In fact, Lincoln's streets could well be revised to perpetuate the memory of distinguished sons and daughters of this state and of this community.

Estes Gets No Aid From Jersey Pros

WASHINGTON — In 1953 when Bob Meyner, the young and then relatively unknown New Jerseyite, was running for governor of the Garden State, he appealed to another young Democrat, Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, to come north and make some speeches for him.

Kefauver did so. He dug into the files of his crime probe, picked out some interesting facts about New Jersey racketeers, some of them linked with Republicans, and delivered some hard-hitting speeches which helped elect a Democratic governor of New Jersey for the first time in 15 years.

Last week Kefauver was back in Meyner's state seeking delegates for himself at the Chicago convention. But he is getting no reciprocity from the governor he helped elect.

The two men have had some pleasant, friendly meetings, the first at the Essex House in Newark, where Meyner came to see the senator from Tennessee.

"I love you, Estes," was the gist of Meyner's conversation, "and I appreciate what you once did for me. But I'm not going to give you any help in the primary."

BIG TEST

Actually the New Jersey primary tomorrow boils down to one of the most important battles of the pre-convention period. On one side, Kefauver will be trying to keep the lead over Stevenson he established in Minnesota. On the other side, Meyner, who has now thrown his lot with Stevenson, will be trying to keep his own prestige in New Jersey by taking delegates away from Kefauver — delegates which are pledged, but which would probably go to Stevenson if controlled by Meyner.

Likewise, John Kenny, boss of the old Hague machine in Jersey City — a city where the tall Tennesseean unearthed plenty of crime — will be out to protect his machine. He is dead opposed to Kefauver.

Kefauver has had terrific crowds, one of the biggest right in Kenny's own Jersey City ballroom. In Newark, the crowds were so enthusiastic that Mayor Leo Carlin, who had planned to stay neutral, came up to congratulate Kefauver. Whether the enthusiasm of the crowds can be translated into delegate strength will test out whether New Jersey local leaders can be any stronger than the local leaders of Minnesota.

Ammo Stockpiling In Morse-McKay Battle

PORTLAND, Ore. — Republican Target No. 1 in the congressional campaign this fall is Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse, and already the sound of knives being sharpened is loud in the land.

President Eisenhower himself is said to take a warm personal interest in the defeat of Morse, who has been his most blunt and outspoken critic. The personal intervention of the President put Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay into the lists to slay the dragon.

The alarm was sounded, according to reports here, by Ralph H. Cake, former Republican national committeeman, who phoned presidential assistant Sherman Adams to say that a private poll showed that only McKay could defeat Morse. This call to action came only a few days before the final date for filing in the primary.

McKay, who had had no intention of running for the Senate, and, in fact, had begun to congratulate himself that he would not be "drafted" for this onerous undertaking, was summoned to the White House. There he was given a presidential pat on the head and a firm shove in the direction of Oregon by Adams.

He arrived one day before the filing deadline to the great surprise of Republican party leaders. They had had no advance notice that the White House was to enter its man in the race. One consequence of this lack of co-ordination is a feeling of resentment among some Republicans at this belated intervention.

The candidate who had been tapped to run against Morse, Gov. Pat Patterson, dropped dead of a heart attack at a meeting at which strategy was being charted. Several Republicans thereupon entered the race.

Two of them, Lamar Tooez, a Portland lawyer, and Phil Hitchcock, former member of the state legislature and active in church groups, had considerable backing. The day after he arrived in Portland to file as a candidate, McKay had Tooez and Hitchcock to lunch to inform them that he told the White House he would run.

"That means, then, that we'll get out," Tooez said. But Hitchcock, who has a strong independent streak, refused. He pointed out that he had made commitments around the state and had accepted contributions on the assumption he would go through with his campaign right up to the primary on May 18.

So McKay and Hitchcock are rivals, although by a "gentleman's agreement" they are avoiding attacks on each other.

Jersey campaign late, had to get his own delegates into the race late, says he'll be satisfied to carry 10 out of 36 delegates.

DEEPENING CRISIS

It is now possible to report more details on the closed-door conference between Secretary of State Dulles and bipartisan congressional leaders over the threatening war clouds in the Near East.

"The President," Dulles said, "has requested me to brief you gentlemen on the seriousness of the situation."

He then proceeded to sketch a picture of deepening crisis.

One thing which disturbed him was the cable reports from U.S. embassies in Cairo and Tel Aviv that both Premier Nasser of Egypt and President Ben-Gurion of Israel had become increasingly hostile. Previously they had been receptive to suggestions for peace, but not recently.

Another disturbing part of Mr. Dulles' report was that Russians are organizing Moslem troops behind the Iron Curtain apparently to send so-called "volunteers" in to help the Arabs, just as Chinese "volunteers" swarmed all over Korea. Dulles said the State Department is watching this very closely.

NO CONGRESSIONAL O.K.?

The secretary of state seemed loath to reveal just what plans the Eisenhower administration had, if any, to deal with the worsening crisis. He stated flatly, however, that the President is prepared to intervene in the Near East, and made it clear that he wouldn't necessarily ask Congress in advance. He would ask for congressional approval, Dulles said, if he had time.

"But," added the secretary of state, "if a serious crisis develops suddenly and he hasn't time to seek congressional authorization, he will, of course, take any steps that are necessary under his own powers to stop an all-out war. The President has the power under this constitution to intervene," Dulles declared. "After all, there are American citizens in that area who must be protected."

Dulles injected a faintly optimistic note at this point by saying he was sure war would not come to the Near East in the immediate future.

"We are still confident it can be averted by diplomatic means and are doing all in our power along that line," he said.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

New Attitude Toward Council

The appointment of C. W. D. Kinsey to the vacancy which existed on the City Council brought out an interesting statement from other council members.

A Council statement released by Mayor Clark Jeary stated, "We were presented with an array of names of persons whom we were led to believe would accept the appointment."

This caused the members of the Council to be more proud of Lincoln than ever. To know that people of the calibre of those who were mentioned would render this service was heartening."

While the Council had no intention of patting itself on the back, the statement is a compliment to both the Council and Mr. Kinsey. It wasn't too many years ago that finding someone to run the affairs of the city was quite a task. Public confidence in the City Council was at a very low point and men and women of substantial stature had no desire to become a part of such an atmosphere.

However, under the guidance of Mayor Jeary and before him the now Gov. Victor Anderson, service on the Council has become a much more sought-after position. This has not been accomplished through any infallibility on the part of either man or those who served with them, because mistakes have been made. The improvement is the result of nothing more than a sincere desire to do the best possible job and the sacrifice of sufficient time to accomplish it.

A former attitude of "what can I get out of it" has changed to "what can I give" through serving on the Council. This has led to increased efficiency in all departments of the city, less political and friendly maneuvering and a greater respectability.

Seeking to strengthen this condition, the Council selected Mr. Kinsey to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme. Other than whatever inner satisfaction he may derive from the job, the Council and others acquainted with Mr. Kinsey know there is nothing he could "get" or wants out of the appointment. On the contrary, his acceptance was at a personal sacrifice of time which he was willing to make.

The fact that Mr. Kinsey was picked from "an array of names," including a number of outstanding citizens, is further tribute by his colleagues to his ability.

While not intending to question the merits of either proposal, a point has been raised in connection with the proposal to combine the medical center and park development bond issue.

Actually, about the only thing the two issues have in common is their location. Outside of the site, the two proposals seem to be no more compatible than a park and library, a park and the city-county building or a park and any other time of public or semi-public building.

The greatest objection to the combined $4.8 million issue for the medical center and park development at 33rd and O seems to come from those who favor the park plan. The total combined issue will include $300,000 for improvements to the Rogers Tract as a recreational center.

It is felt by some that the $300,000 would stand a better chance of getting the voter's approval if it were on the ballot by itself. A $300,000 bond issue for the park might look pretty good to some people while a $4.8 million bond issue might scare them off.

The City Council acted wisely when it tabled without second reading two annexation ordinances. The ordinances covered tracts along West O and the Cornhusker Highway.

The ordinances had residents and property owners in both areas in a state of uproar. There is considerable opposition in both areas to annexation, and incorporation of at least the West O area may have been pushed through before annexation could have been accomplished. By tabling the ordinances, the Council stalled off the incorporation move.

The big difficulty is that those people who want city water, yet oppose annexation, simply want to eat their cake and have it too. They want city water service, yet they want no part of paying for other services which they also have. Living outside the city, they have the benefit of city parks, city streets, city police and fire protection, city courts of law, city libraries and a host of other services for which they pay no city taxes.

If the fringe areas around Lincoln are against annexation, the city should be in no hurry for it. From an economic standpoint, the annexation would be a financial loss for the city. City officials estimate that the taxes that would be produced in the two areas would not amount to anything near the cost of extending city services.

If Lincoln had plenty of water, it would be a fine thing to sell it outside the city limits—but this is not the case. If the people who pay city taxes are short of water, why should the deficiency be increased by giving service to those who want no part of city taxes?

Other Surpluses

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are many things I don't understand. For instance why this constant wailing about farm surpluses? We don't hear of much concern over the mountains of surplus war materials that are being piled up, just in case. Doesn't this take as much or more of our tax dollars to produce and maintain as it does to store farm products? Is it any more necessary in case of war?

We don't see many Republicans getting grey-headed over the waste involved in junking a lot of obsolete war machinery because it wasn't used before it became out of date. Is it because these things are produced by big business concerns like General Motors, for instance, and many of our Republican leaders are especially interested in these concerns?

Why, then, must they cry their eyes out if some of our farm surplus spoils or is wasted, or if it costs a lot to store it? Is there some law that says it's perfectly all right if big business gets fat over the possibility of another war, but the farmers should be patriotic enough to produce an abundance of food non-profit? I just don't understand.

MRS. JAMES NELSON

Sterling, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been wanting to write this letter for some time, but just didn't know how to put it all into words. It's this — I think most of the trouble with the young people of these days is largely the fault of us older folks. Every time we listen to the news, it's robbery, shooting, divorces. The television programs for the young folks include crime shows. And why in the world isn't there a law to shut all liquor stores at six o'clock on Saturday evening and leave them closed until Monday morning? Men and women sit in those places and spend their money when they should be at home getting themselves and their children ready for church and Sunday school.

And I think, too, that cars now built to go 70 and 80 miles an hour should have a 50-mile maximum. For doctors or police cars, the higher speeds would be O.K. Just think how many lives are wiped out because of all that speed. And the speed, too, is the fault of the older folks.

MRS. D. W.

No Wheel Tax

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A tired taxpayer says that his answer to Mayor Jeary's wheel tax is "No."

Now this tired Taxpayer wrote an article with a big "No" to the bond issue in the June election. If they pass it will add another tax on your home. If it is of high value you'll be stung for a lot more taxes on the home you live in.

I was pretty well pleased with the editorial page this morning. It brought to mind where we are going with taxes to the hilt.

Let's fight wheel taxes no matter what for.

BEN S. KECK

The Wherry Houses

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the past few months we have period the government is paying over $54,000 rent for a "Wherry house" which cost $9,000 or less to build. For such a house over a 75 year period, the government is paying $81,000 rent. The total cost will be $5.2 billion before the government takes over the houses.

Vinson proposed that Uncle Sam take over the houses now, pay their private owners the present value of the houses and save the spending billions more dollars of the taxpayers money for future rentals.

If the Wherry program is private enterprise, isn't it just a little bit too private for Uncle Sam's own good?

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs wishes to express its appreciation for the fine newspaper coverage it has received during the past two years. The Lincoln Star has been of invaluable assistance to us in promoting our program and projects. Without this help, our job of transferring information to our clubs throughout the state would have been difficult and certainly more limited.

We especially wish to express thanks for the excellent publicity our organization had prior to and during the recent state convention in Omaha.

U.S. Woman To Claim Child She Never Saw

...Told Baby Died In German Camp

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A 30-year-old San Diego woman leaves here Monday by plane on the first leg of a journey to France to claim the daughter she has never seen.

She is Mrs. Melitta Real, whose daughter was born 12 years ago in a German prison camp hospital. In France, Mrs. Real learned only last month that the child was alive.

"They—the Germans—told me my baby died the day after she was born," Mrs. Real said Sunday. "I believed them, because I'd been so badly treated in the camp where I worked."

Mrs. Real moved with her parents from her native Yugoslavia to France when she was a child. When the Germans invaded the country in World War II, she was engaged to an Alsace-Lorraine youth.

He was conscripted into the German army and was sent to a prison camp. Though she was pregnant, she was not permitted to marry.

"I worked in an airplane factory and lived in a labor camp," Mrs. Real said. "They told me the camp was no place for a child to be born. They made me sign some papers. I couldn't read German, then. I don't know what it was I signed."

She said the baby's father was captured by the Russians. Last month, Mrs. Real received a letter from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Blaknik of Freyming, France, informing her that her daughter was alive. She also received a letter from the daughter's father. He returned to France in 1954.

The father, now married, asked Mrs. Real to take over the child's custody. He said the East German family, with whom the girl had been living, would keep her unless she is claimed by the time she is 13.

The reunion with her daughter, her parents and her two brothers will be in Paris, Mrs. Real said. She said it will be a happy reunion but a brief one. "I want to come home—here—just as soon as I can get my baby."

She met her present husband, Alex Real, in Monterey, Calif. A cement finisher, he and Mrs. Real moved to San Diego three years ago. They have no children.

POSTCARD

The porter said his name was Charles and he was originally from Louisiana, but now he lived in Chicago. He had a rich bayou accent and had been riding Santa Fe's luxury Super Chief for 20 years.

"Man, those were the high-livin' days. Now, if you was to get aboard the train in those days, you would scarcely see anything but famous actresses. Dressed to kill. All the famous people rode back and forth to New York."

"Who rides the trains nowadays?" I asked.

"Well, there is plenty people on the train. But not the same crowd. Now, it used to be they would sit up all night playin' gin. Big men. Smokin' big cigars. High spendin' men. They play gin and they talk."

"What did they talk about?"

"Well, it seem they talk mostly about their health. Seem like mighty puny folks. Many of them high-livin' Hollywood men get ulcers they don't want to even live with. All that high class life hurt the stomach, I reckon."

It has been a long time since I rode the train. And it seemed like a good idea to see who travels the rails in this airborne age.

The porter said the Super Chief ran pretty full.

"One man on here, now, he had a airplane reservation but he hear it is snowing in Philadelphia. And I ain't got no time to get put down in Pittsburgh or some other forsaken place, Charles," he tell me.

"Lots of these men they say, 'Charles, the train is the only place nobody can get me by telephone. I need a rest.' A man gets on a plane, whoosh! There he is so fast he's all wore out. All he can do is go to bed."

There is something restful about the train. With the Great Plains sliding by the picture windows. The cheerful lighting at night and the silver and white dining car at sunny breakfast time. The reading lights in the berth and the lights of unknown towns flashing past in the dark.

I had to learn all over again. That if you leave your spoon in the coffee cup the coffee doesn't spill over. If you hand your cigarette a male, it doesn't roll off the table so easily.

"The last big time for the trains was during the war," said Charles. "That was the big time."

It certainly was. That was a time when, even with travel orders, you had to bribe your way onto the trains.

The trains were serving only two meals a day and often ran out of food before the last serving. Because of the meat shortage, I once had buffalo steak.

A transfer across country cost me $100 even with Uncle Sugar picking up the tab. My child was about three months. And getting a bottle warmed in those overworked kitchens required an act of Congress. That child's milk was more expensive than gin.

"Never seemed quite the same after the war," said Charles. "Man, I could write a book about all them times."

"Why, before the war, when all them Hollywood folks rode, the tips they put out I sometimes like to stop and think. 'Charles,' they say, 'save me a place by the window.' $20! They was big spenders. Big."

"Course I give many of them big men very good treatment."

"Like what?"

Graham's Plane Murder Trial Opens

DENVER (AP)—The accused killer of 44 airline passengers and crewmen, John Gilbert Graham, 24, goes on trial for his life Monday.

Selection of a 12-member jury plus one alternate, will begin before Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald. Some four to eight weeks later

Mrs. Myrtle White Dies At Age Of 69

Mrs. Myrtle White, 69, of 1762 No. 27th, died Sunday. She had lived in Lincoln for many years.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Emma Butler of Lincoln, Mrs. Lolla Butler of Oakland, Calif., Mrs. Jane Crews of Seattle, Wash.; five sons, Capt. Frank White of Ft. Lee, Va., Sgt. Bill White in Germany, Joe, George and Thomas of Oakland, Calif.; a brother, Allen Spencer of Grand Rapids, Mich.; 13 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

court attaches estimate—the jury will decide the guilt or innocence of the man charged specifically with the murder of his mother. Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

She was among 44 persons aboard a United Air Lines DC6B that blew up 11 minutes after taking off from the Denver Airport last Nov. 1. Federal officials said Graham signed a statement admitting he had planted a dynamite bomb in his mother's luggage. Graham has repudiated that statement in news interviews.

He claimed he signed it under a FBI threat that his wife, Gloria, mother of their two-year-old son, would be arrested. The FBI denied there was any threat.

Among the 38 passengers were several men prominent in government and business.

Graham has dropped an insanity plea and will stand trial on a plea of innocence. Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said the state will seek to execute Graham in Colorado's gas chamber. Graham has said he would take the stand to clear himself. But the three court-appointed defense lawyers said last week Graham "may elect not to wear the time comes. This is a complex case and anything could happen."

John J. Gibbons, one of Graham's lawyers, said "we will have a number of surprises. There will be a surprise defense."

Judge McDonald 38, has authorized the taking of still photographs and television film for delayed screening. Radio stations will be permitted to make recordings. Graham's objection to TV filming was overruled. The judge said he could find no fundamental right that would be violated by the filming.

However, Judge McDonald said he would honor any request by a juror or witness who objects to being photographed.

When someone's counting on you... you can count on life insurance

There's no easy way to measure a parent's responsibilities. You can't see them... except perhaps for the faith that shows in your youngster's eyes. You can't feel them... except for the trusting squeeze of tiny hands. But you know they're there... today, tomorrow and for years to come.

That's why you own life insurance. You know you can rely on the written guarantees in your policies to help protect your family's future. Every policy is, in fact, a contract that sets forth in detail the benefits the life insurance company promises to deliver.

This is one of the reasons why you can count on life insurance... and why it is America's most widely used form of thrift.

It's wise to review your life insurance policies regularly—to make sure that the provisions you selected earlier still apply to your family's present needs. Your own life insurance agent will be glad to help you do this. It is part of the service he offers you.

You will also find helpful suggestions in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—and How to Use It. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. J.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A 30-year-old San Diego woman leaves here Monday by plane on the first leg of a journey to France to claim the daughter she has never seen.

She is Mrs. Melitta Real, whose daughter was born 12 years ago in a German prison camp hospital in France. Mrs. Real learned only last month that the child was alive.

"They—the Germans—told me my baby died the day after she was born," Mrs. Real said Sunday. "I believed them, because I'd been so badly treated in the camp where I worked."

Mrs. Real moved with her parents from her native Yugoslavia to France when she was a child. When the Germans invaded the country in World War II, she was engaged to an Alsace-Lorraine youth.

He was conscripted into the German army and was sent to a prison camp. Though she was pregnant, she was not permitted to marry.

"I worked in an airplane factory and lived in a labor camp," Mrs. Real said. "They told me the camp was no place for a child to be born. They made me sign some papers. I couldn't read German, then. I don't know what it was I signed."

She said the baby's father was captured by the Russians.

Last month, Mrs. Real received a letter from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Blaknik of Freyming, France, informing her that her daughter was alive. She also received a letter from the daughter's father. He returned to France in 1954.

The father, now married, asked Mrs. Real to take over the child's custody. He said the East German family, with whom the girl had been living, would keep her unless she is claimed by the time she is 13.

The reunion with her daughter, her parents and her two brothers will be in Paris, Mrs. Real said.

She said it will be a happy reunion but a brief one. "I want to come home—here—just as soon as I can get my baby."

She met her present husband, Alex Real, in Monterey, Calif. A cement finisher, he and Mrs. Real moved to San Diego three years ago. They have no children.

POSTCARD

The porter said his name was Charles and he was originally from Louisiana, but now he lived in Chicago. He had a rich bayou accent and had been riding Santa Fe's luxury Super Chief for 20 years.

"Man, those were the high-livin' days. Now, if you was to get aboard the train in those days, you would scarcely see anything but famous actresses. Dressed to kill. All the famous people rode back and forth to New York."

"Who rides the trains nowadays?" I asked.

"Well, there is plenty people on the train. But not the same crowd. Now, it used to be they would sit up all night playin' gin. Big men. Smokin' big cigars. High spendin' men. They play gin and they talk."

"What did they talk about?"

"Well, it seem like they talk mostly about their health. Seem like mighty puny folks. Many of them high-livin' Hollywood men got ulcers they don't want to even live with. All that high class life hurt the stomach, I reckon."

It has been a long time since I rode the train. And it seemed like a good idea to see who travels the rails in this airborne age.

The porter said the Super Chief ran pretty full.

"One man on here, now, he had a airplane reservation but he hear it is snowing in Philadelphia. And I ain't got no time to get put down in Pittsburgh or some other forsaken place, Charles," he tell me.

"Lots of these men they say, 'Charles, the train is the only place nobody can get me by telephone. I need a rest.' A man gets on a plane, whoosh! There he is so fast he's all wore out. All he can do is go to bed."

There is something restful about the train. With the Great Plains sliding by the picture windows. The cheerful lighting at night and the silver and white dining car at sunny breakfast time. The reading lights in the berth and the lights of unknown towns flashing past in the dark.

I had to learn all over again. That if you leave your spoon in the coffee cup the coffee doesn't spill over. If you bend your cigarette a little, it doesn't roll off the table as easily.

"The last big time for the trains was during the war," said Charles. "That was the big time."

"Well, it seem like the important man like to FEEL important. You know what I mean? I brush them men off when they get off the train. I come in with my regular whisk broom and make like I'm gonna brush them off."

"Then I say, 'Scuse me, suh. That is a mighty fine piece of goods you got on there. I sure gonna brush that off with a soft brush.' So then I make them wait a minute."

"I go out and get a special brush I buy in Chicago. That whisk broom got a gold handle! Real pretty, that gold handle. I say, 'This is the brush you need for that fine material. May I ask, suh, who is your tailor?'"

"Ha! That important man is flattered. He knows now he is important. After all that importance he ain't gonna give me no UNimportant tip. Those was really fine days!"

"Why, before the war, when all them Hollywood folks rode, the tips they put out I sometimes like to stop and think. 'Charles,' they say, 'save me a place by the window,' $20! They was big spenders. Big."

"Course I give many of them big men very good treatment."

"Like what?"

Graham's Plane Murder Trial Opens

DENVER (AP)—The accused killer of 44 airline passengers and crewmen, John Gilbert Graham, 24, goes on trial for his life Monday.

Selection of a 12-member jury plus one alternate, will begin before Dist. Judge Joseph M. McDonald. Some four to eight weeks later —court attaches estimate—the jury will decide the guilt or innocence of the man charged specifically with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

She was among 44 persons aboard a United Air Lines DC6B that blew up 11 minutes after taking off from the Denver Airport last Nov. 1. Federal officials said Graham signed a statement admitting he had planted a dynamite bomb in his mother's luggage. Graham has repudiated that statement in news interviews.

He claimed he signed it under an FBI threat that his wife, Gloria, mother of their two-year-old son, would be arrested. The FBI denied there was any threat.

Among the 38 passengers were several men prominent in government and business.

Graham has dropped an insanity plea and will stand trial on a plea of innocence. Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said the state will seek to execute Graham in Colorado's gas chamber. Graham has said he would take the stand to clear himself. But the three court-appointed defense lawyers said last week Graham "may elect not to when the time comes. He will be guided by our views. This is a complex case and anything could happen."

John J. Gibbons, one of Graham's lawyers, said "we will have a number of surprises. There will be a surprise defense."

Judge McDonald 38, has authorized the taking of still photographs and television film for delayed screening. Radio stations will be permitted to make recordings. Graham's objection to TV filming was overruled. The judge said he could find no fundamental right that would be violated by the filming.

However, Judge McDonald said he would honor any request by a juror or witness who objects to being photographed.

When someone's counting on you... you can count on life insurance

There's no easy way to measure a parent's responsibilities. You can't see them... except perhaps for the faith that shows in your youngster's eyes. You can't feel them... except for the trusting squeeze of tiny hands. But you know they're there... today, tomorrow and for years to come.

That's why you own life insurance. You know you can rely on the written guarantees in your policies to help protect your family's future. Every policy is, in fact, a contract that sets forth in detail the benefits the life insurance company promises to deliver.

This is one of the reasons why you can count on life insurance... and why it is America's most widely used form of thrift.

It's wise to review your life insurance policies regularly—to make sure that the provisions you selected earlier still apply to your family's present needs. Your own life insurance agent will be glad to help you do this. It is part of the service he offers you.

You will also find helpful suggestions in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—How to Use It. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. J.

Candlelight Service

MRS. DONALD M. VEIHMAN

Before her marriage on Easter Sunday, April 1, Mrs. Donald M. Veihman was Miss Mary Ann Thavenet of DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Thavenet. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Veihman of Minonk, Ill.

The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening at Trinity Lutheran Church in DeWitt. Mr. and Mrs. Veihman will make their home in Lincoln at 2762 So. 33rd.

We Hear That

Lt. and Mrs. Gerald Oehring announce the birth of a son on Monday, April 9, in Frankfurt, Germany. Mrs. Oehring is the former Sally Sieck, daughter of Mrs. Marian J. Sieck, and a Chi Omega at the University of Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Oehring.

Married At Early Spring Ceremonies

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES W. TURLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hansen have announced the marriage of their daughter, Yvonne, to Charles W. Turley, son of Marion Turley, on Thursday, April 5. The wedding took place at Glenwood, Ia., in the presence of members of the family, and was followed by a wedding dinner for a small group of friends and relatives. The bride wore a frock of pink organza designed in the day-time mode. Her accessories were white and she completed her ensemble with a shoulder spray of white orchids.

The bride will make her home with her parents until Mr. Turley completes his service with the Navy. He is stationed at Long Beach, Calif., with the USS O'Brien.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT D. KELLER

At a double ring ceremony solemnized Sunday afternoon, March 25, at the Presbyterian Church in Gibbon, Miss Janet Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Miller of Gibbon, became the bride of Robert D. Keller, of Lincoln. The Rev. George E. Chapman of Shelton read the lines of the service.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Keith Rayburn of Kearney, appeared in a full-skirted frock of orchid tulle and lace fashioned in the ballroom mode and carried a basket filled with white and orchid-toned carnations. Mrs. Sidney Sheldon, costumed identically, was her sister's bridesmaid, and lighting the candles were Miss Florence Smith of Gibbon and Miss Joyce Stearns of Grand Island. William Keller served his brother as best man and seating the guests were Heuben Keller, Wilbur Wiedeman and John Keller, all of Lincoln, Donald Miller and Roy Loffer of Gibbon.

White Chantilly-type lace and tulle were chosen by the bride for her period gown. Paillettes patterned the lace of the portrait neckline, and long sleeves completed the molded bodice. Panels of lace and tulle formed the wide skirt which ended in a train, and her veil of illusion was held by a jeweled bandeau. She carried a white Bible marked with an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller will reside in Lincoln where the bride, a graduate of Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, is a member of the nursing staff at St. State Hospital. Mr. Keller, a veteran of four years service with the Navy is attending the University of Nebraska.

Intriguing Calendar Of Events

THE CALENDAR includes a number of intriguing events for the current week, but we'll begin the morning chatter with Sunday, when brides elect and a bride seemed to be popular incentives for parties.

On Sunday morning Miss Sally Berg entertained at a 10:30 o'clock brunch at Hotel Cornhusker when she complimented Pi Beta Phi sister, Miss Cecelia TeSeile of Fremont whose marriage to Lt. Brian Hendrickson will take place in late April.

And on Sunday afternoon Miss Ann Pearce was a tea and shower hostess at her home between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock, in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Barbara Loken who becomes the bride of Rodney Thomas on June 9.

THE BRIDE we mentioned is Mrs. Robert Knapp who, before her late winter wedding, was Miss Judy Joyce. Mrs. Knapp was honored at a post-nuptial party on Sunday when Miss Carol Unterseher and Miss Phyllis Cast were supper hostesses between the hours of 5 o'clock and 7 o'clock, at the home of Miss Unterseher.

Monday dawned brightly with news of a guest and a most unusual party — Miss Shirley Blackman of Elk City, Okla., arrived on Sunday evening to remain until Thursday as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mildred W. R. Pratt, and Capt. Pratt.

Today Mrs. Pratt will be a luncheon hostess at her home in courtesy to her guest — and we might add there are to be unique features. Among the guests will be the wives of three Air Force officers who had a tour of duty in French Morocco, as did Capt. and Mrs. Pratt. The four, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Robert Teasdale, Mrs. Peter Evola and Mrs. Henry Beadle, will be in Arabian dress, complete with tattoos, and will receive the guests. The table appointments also will feature an Arabian motif.

JUST learned that Dr. and Mrs. T. L. McKee have a baby son, Stephen Lawrence McKee, who was born Sunday morning. Mrs. McKee is the former Joan Carver, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Carver, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McKee of Watius, Utah.

WE'RE sure that there's been considerable polish put on a Delta Gamma anchor which will be put away for safe keeping — One day, about 17 years from now it doubtless will be worn by a brand new legacy, Laurie Ann Glass, who arrived on Tuesday, April 10, at the Beatrice Hospital. Laurie Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Glass, Jr., of Lincoln, and her mother is the former Pam Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peterson of Beatrice, and a Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Glass of Beatrice are the paternal grandparents. GAMMA PHI BETA also is interested in recent news from the Schuyler Bassinet Club — It has to do with the arrival of Miss Mary Katherine Holloran on Thursday, April 12, in Schuyler. Mr. and Mrs. William Holloran are the young lady's parents, and her mother is the former Nancy Odum, Gamma Phi Beta at Nebraska. Mr. Holloran now is in the service, and Mary Katherine and her mother are the guests of Mrs. Holloran's parents in Schuyler.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Judging from all of the news we found on our visit to Cotner Terrace this morning, the neighborhood is just as busy as ever — with more plans for the future.

We learned first that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Larson entertained the members of their bridge club at their home on Friday evening — But this time the affair was more than just a meeting of the bridge club — it was a party — a dinner in farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. John Erick, Jr., who leave soon to reside in Enid, Okla.

Attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. George Reichenbach and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ingram.

Following dinner the evening was devoted to bridge.

And on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hubertus were host and hostess to the members of their bridge club — and this, too, was a special event. It was also a housewarming, planned by the club members, for Mr. and Mrs. Hubertus who were presented with a gift for their new home. Dinner places were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Al Pohman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Liewer and Mr. and Mrs. John Erick, Jr. — plus, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Hubertus.

Birthdays have been the order of the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Marshall — on Friday, April 6, young Danny Lee

Marshall celebrated his fourth anniversary and in honor of the occasion invited six guests for an ice-cream-and-cake party. The guest list included Wayne and Joel Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson, Steve Rothwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rothwell, Dwight, Randy and Vicki Dean, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean, Jr.

And a week later — on Friday, April 13th, Danny Lee's little sister, Donna Lee, was two years old. She also had a party and chose the same menu as her brother — with variations. When you are only two, ice cream bars and cupcakes are much more fun than the regulation cake and ice cream. Wayne and Joel Johnson and Steve Rothwell also attended Donna Lee's party — as did Carol Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher.

Out Cotner Terrace way there's a bridge club that meets every two weeks — and a week from Wednesday — April 25 — is the date of the next bridge session. The group which will meet at the home of Mrs. Philip Beaumont, includes Mrs. Clyde Hamilton, Mrs. Arthur Belknap, Mrs. Clifford Pratt, Mrs. Gordon Ware, Mrs. Robert Culwell, Mrs. C. L. Tetherow, Mrs. Boyd Ready and Mrs. Everett Peterson.

Understand there are guests in Cotner Terrace — Mrs. William Gilbert and her daughter, Deborah, arrived from Long Beach, Calif., last week for an indefinite stay as the guests of Mrs. Gilbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Geistlinger.

Someone told us that Mrs. Edward Lofink was home again after a holiday at Excelsior Springs — Mrs. Lofink went first to Red Oak, Ia., where she was joined by her sister, Mrs. Lois Westerlund, for the vacation trip.

Hear that the Cotner Terrace area is losing one of its families — The Rev. and Mrs. Merin Dana — But the Danas won't be too far away — The Rev. Dana has been assigned to the Havenock Christian Church and he and his family now will reside at 6417 Havenock Ave.

These Brides Had Church Weddings

MRS. GLENN DOUGLAS HOWARD

Pedestal baskets filled with lavender gladioli and white chrysanthemums, and tall, lighted candles decorated the chancel of Peace Lutheran Church at Deshler Sunday afternoon, April 15, for the marriage of Miss Miriam Kathleen Struve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Struve of Deshler, to Glenn Douglas Howard, son of Mrs. Ruby Howard of Lincoln. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. E. W. Philippi in the presence of 150 guests, and the wedding music was played by Marvin Engel, organist. Mr. Engel also accompanied Miss Grace Riensche, vocal soloist.

Frooked identically in lavender tulle and lace were Miss Mary Isenhausen of Deshler, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harold Fintel of Deshler and Miss Bonnie Howard of Lincoln. Bolero jackets of lace covered their strapless basques, and their full, shirred skirts were banded with lace. They carried cascades of white gladioli, daisies and pompons. Miss Glenda Schmidt was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Paulette Meyers and Miss Colleen Meyers.

Don Howard of Lincoln served as best man, and the ushers were Roger Struve of Deshler and Gene Kehres of Lincoln. The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white lace and tulle. Softly shirred tulle filled in the portrait décolletage of the snug bodice of lace which was designed with brief sleeves of the shirred tulle, and the tulle was repeated in a deep flounce at the hem of the circular lace skirt. A bonnet brim of tulle and lace dotted with pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a white prayer book showered with white carnations and stephanotis.

Following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks. Mr. and Mrs. Howard will make their home at 5929 Glade in Lincoln.

MRS. EUGENE EMERSON KUNERT

The chancel of Bethany Christian Church was lighted by white candles in pedestal candelabra, and decorated with arrangements of white and pink gladioli, for the marriage of Miss Yvonne Joyce Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fowler, to Eugene Emerson Kunert, son of Mrs. Charlotte Kunert of Lincoln, and Joe Kunert of Porterville, Calif., on Sunday afternoon, April 15. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. W. H. Holverson, and Mrs. Marjorie Smith, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Robert Alsweet, vocal soloist.

As the matron of honor, Mrs. Richard Brandt appeared in a frock of petal pink tulle fashioned with a snug bodice and fully flared skirt. Wearing similar ensembles in blue were the bridesmaids, Miss Jackie Dill and Mrs. William Kunert. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of white and pink carnations. Miss Janet Kunert, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles preceding the service were Miss Betty Penke and Mrs. Richard McCracken.

William Kunert served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Richard Brandt, Hollis Cook, Richard McCracken, Norman Brandhorst and Ivan Anderson. The bride's colonial gown was fashioned of white embroidered eyelet. The off-shoulder décolletage was banded by white crystallette which extended over the upper arms to form brief, puffed sleeves, completed by mits of the eyelet. Beneath the snug waist, the skirt, accented by a bustle bow at the crystallette, widened into hemline fullness

To Head La Sertoma

New officers of La Sertoma were elected by the club recently and installed at a joint dinner-meeting with the members of the Lincoln Sertoma Club. New president is Mrs. Kenneth

Extension Club Program

Mrs. Leo Martin entertained the members of the Haines Branch Extension Club at her home Wednesday evening. The lesson "Weight Control," was given by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Carl Stern, and the club members held a contest on calories. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leola Wells.

Meeting Postponed

The monthly meeting of the Chi Omega Alumnae Club, originally planned for Monday evening, has been postponed one week. The meeting will be held Monday evening, April 23, at the home of Mrs. W. K. Schenck.

Intriguing Calendar Of Events

THE CALENDAR includes a number of intriguing events for the current week, but we'll begin the morning chatter with Sunday, when brides-elect and a bride seemed to be popular incentives for parties—

On Sunday morning Miss Sally Berg entertained at a 10:30 o'clock brunch at Hotel Cornhusker when she complimented Pi Beta Phi sister, Miss Cecelia TeSelle of Fremont whose marriage to Lt. Brien Hendrickson will take place in late April.

AND on Sunday afternoon Miss Ann Pearce was a tea and shower hostess at her home between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock, in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Barbara Loken who becomes the bride of Rodney Thomas on June 9.

THE BRIDE we mentioned is Mrs. Robert Knapple who, before her late winter wedding, was Miss Judy Joyce. Mrs. Knapple was honored at a post-nuptial party on Sunday when Miss Carol Unterseher and Miss Phyllis Cast were supper hostesses, between the hours of 5 o'clock and 7 o'clock, at the home of Miss Unterseher.

MONDAY dawned brightly with news of a guest and a most unusual party—Miss Shirley Blackman of Elk City, Okla., arrived on Sunday evening to remain until Thursday as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mildard W. R. Pratt, and Capt. Pratt.

Today Mrs. Pratt will be a luncheon hostess at her home in courtesy to her guest—and we might add there are to be unique features. Among the guests will be the wives of three Air Force officers who had a tour of duty in French Morocco, as did Capt. and Mrs. Pratt. The four, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Robert Teasdale, Mrs. Peter Evolda and Mrs. Henry Beadle, will be in Arabian dress, complete with tattoos, and will receive the guests. The table appointments also will feature an Arabian motif.

JUST learned that Dr. and Mrs. T. L. McKee have a baby son, Stephen Lawrence McKee, who was born Sunday morning. Mrs. McKee is the former Joan Carveth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Carveth, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs.

T. L. McKee of Watiss, Utah. WE'RE sure that there's been considerable polish put on a Delta Gamma anchor which will be put away for safe keeping—One day, about 17 years from now it doubtless will be worn by a brand new legacy, Laurie Ann Glass, who arrived on Tuesday, April 10, at the Beatrice Hospital. Laurie Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Glass, Jr., of Lincoln, and her mother is the former Pam Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peterson of Beatrice, and a Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Glass of Beatrice are the paternal grandparents.

GAMMA PHI BETA also is interested in recent news from the Schuyler Bassinet Club—It has to do with the arrival of Miss Mary Katherine Holloran on Thursday, April 12, in Schuyler. Mr. and Mrs. William Holloran are the young lady's parents, and her mother is the former Nancy Odum, Gamma Phi Beta at Nebraska. Mr. Holloran now is in the service, and Mary Katherine and her mother are the guests of Mrs. Holloran's parents in Schuyler.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Judging from all of the news we found on our visit to Cotner Terrace this morning, the neighborhood is just as busy as ever—with more plans for the future.

We learned first that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Larson entertained the members of their bridge club at their home on Friday evening—But this time the affair was more than just a meeting of the bridge club—it was a party—a dinner in farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. John Eirick, Jr., who leave soon to reside in Enid, Okla.

Attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. George Reichenbach and

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ingram. Following dinner the evening was devoted to bridge.

And on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hubertus were host and hostess to the members of their bridge club—and this, too, was a special event. It was also a housewarming, planned by the club members, for Mr. and Mrs. Hubertus who were presented with a gift for their new home. Dinner places were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Al Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Liewer and Mr. and Mrs. John Eirick, Jr.—plus, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Hubertus.

Birthdays have been the order of the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Marshall—on Friday, April 6, young Danny Lee

Marshall celebrated his fourth anniversary and in honor of the occasion invited six guests for an ice-cream-and-cake party. The guest list included Wayne and Joel Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson; Steve Rothwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rothwell; Dwight, Randy and Vicki Dean, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean, Jr.

And a week later—on Friday, April 13th, Danny Lee's little sister, Donna Lee, was two years old. She also had a party and chose the same menu as her brother—with variations. When you are only two, ice cream bars and cupcakes are much more fun than the regulation cake and ice cream. Wayne and Joel Johnson and Steve Rothwell also attended Donna Lee's party—as did Carol Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher.

Out Cotner Terrace way there's a bridge club that meets every two weeks—and a week from Wednesday—April 25—is the date of the next bridge session. The group which will meet at the home of Mrs. Philip Beaumont, includes Mrs. Clyde Hamilton, Mrs. Arthur Belknap, Mrs. Clifford Pratt, Mrs. Gordon Ware, Mrs. Robert Culwell, Mrs. C. L. Tetherow, Mrs. Boyd Ready and Mrs. Everett Peterson.

Understand there are guests in Cotner Terrace—Mrs. William Gilbert and her daughter, Deborah, arrived from Long Beach, Calif., last week for an indefinite stay as the guests of Mrs. Gilbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Geistlinger.

Someone told us that Mrs. Edward Lofink was home again after a holiday at Excelsior Springs—Mrs. Lofink went first to Red Oak, Ia., where she was joined by her sister, Mrs. Lois Westerlund, for the vacation trip.

Hear that the Cotner Terrace area is losing one of its families—the Rev. and Mrs. Merlin Dana—But the Danas won't be too far away—The Rev. Dana has been assigned to the Havelock Christian Church and he and his family now will reside at 6417 Havelock Ave.

These Brides Had Church Weddings

MRS. GLENN DOUGLAS HOWARD

Pedestal baskets filled with lavender gladioli and white chrysanthemums, and tall, lighted candles decorated the chancel of Peace Lutheran Church at Deshler Sunday afternoon, April 15, for the marriage of Miss Miriam Kathleen Struve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A.

Struve of Deshler, to Glenn Douglas Howard, son of Mrs. Ruby Howard of Lincoln. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. E. W. Philippi in the presence of 150 guests, and the wedding music was played by Marvin Engel, organist. Mr. Engel also accompanied Miss Grace Riensche, vocal soloist.

Frocked identically in lavender tulle and lace were Miss Mary Isernhagen of Deshler, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harold Fintel of Deshler and Miss Bonnie Howard of Lincoln. Bolero jackets of lace covered their strapless basques, and their full, shirred skirts were banded with lace. They carried cascades of white gladioli, daisies and pompons. Miss Glenda Schmidt was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Paulette Meyers and Miss Colleen Meyers.

Don Howard of Lincoln served as best man, and the ushers were Roger Struve of Deshler and Gene Kehres of Lincoln.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white lace and tulle. Softly shirred tulle filled in the portrait decolletage of the snug bodice of lace which was designed with brief sleeves of the shirred tulle, and the tulle was repeated in a deep flounce at the hem of the circular lace skirt. A bonnet brim of tulle and lace dotted with pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a white prayer book showered with white camellias and stephanotis.

Following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks. Mr. and Mrs. Howard will make their home at 3929 Glade in Lincoln.

MRS. EUGENE EMERSON KUNERT

The chancel of Bethany Christian Church was lighted by white candles in pedestal candelabra, and decorated with arrangements of white and pink gladioli, for the marriage of Miss Yvonne Joyce Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fowler, to Eugene Emerson Kunert, son of Mrs. Charlotte Kunert of Lincoln, and Joe Kunert of Porterville, Calif., on Sunday afternoon, April 15. The 2 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. W. H. Holverson, and Mrs. Marjorie Smith, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Robert Alsweet, vocal soloist.

As the matron of honor, Mrs. Richard Brandt appeared in a frock of petal pink tulle fashioned with a snug bodice and fully flared skirt. Wearing similar ensembles in blue were the bridesmaids, Miss Jackie Dill and Mrs. William Kunert. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of white and pink carnations. Miss Janet Kunert, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles preceding the service were Miss Betty Penke and Mrs. Richard McCracken.

William Kunert served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Richard Brandt, Hollis Cook, Richard McCracken, Norman Brandhorst and Ivan Anderson.

The bride's colonial gown was fashioned of white embroidered eyelet. The off-shoulder decolletage was banded by white crystalite which, extended over the upper arms to form brief, puffed sleeves, completed by mits of the eyelet. Beneath the snug waist, the skirt, accented by a bustle bow of the crystalite, widened into hemline fullness

Laws To Curb 'Shocking Abuses' Of Labor Welfare, Pension Funds Urged

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A Senate Labor subcommittee Sunday recommended immediate federal and state legislation to curb what it called "shocking abuses" in handling multibillion dollar welfare and pension funds.

The committee headed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said it had uncovered enough instances of fraud and corruption in a two-year study to demonstrate a need for prompt safeguards.

Employee welfare and benefit plans have grown the committee said to a point where they now provide benefits to 29 million workers and 46 million worker dependents, nearly half the country's total population.

Assets of pension funds alone the committee said, now total about 25 billion dollars. It said there are nearly a half-million separate plans with annual contributions from employers and workers amounting to nearly seven billion dollars and the figures are still increasing.

The various abuses found in a minority of these programs are, more importantly, the vast proportions to which they have grown place a grave responsibility on the government to protect the interests of the beneficiaries," the committee said.

The committee recommended that all types of employee welfare and pension plans covering 25 million workers be required to register with a federal agency, either an existing one or one to be created for that purpose.

Detailed annual financial reports would be required from all plans embracing 100 or more employees and these would have to be furnished to individual beneficiaries.

Criminal Penalties
Criminal penalties were recommended for willful filing of false reports or unlawfully diverting funds to individual use.

Douglas told a news conference that requiring complete public disclosure of such funds would in itself serve to curb fraud and mismanagement. He said states should follow through with more specific regulations.

Douglas said a bill embodying the committee's recommendations will shortly be introduced in Congress. He expressed hope it will be passed this year. President Eisenhower has recommended welfare fund controls but Douglas said an administration bill now pending leaves too much discretion to the Labor Department.

Many Problems
The committee said failure to provide adequate safeguards before now has led to many problems. Its criticisms were aimed equally at labor unions, employers and insurance companies.

It said most welfare and pension plans have been administered soundly and honestly, even without controls, but "an unscrupulous minority has preyed upon" some plans.

Among "shocking abuses" reported by the committee were embezzlement, collusion, kickbacks, exorbitant insurance charges and "various other forms of malfeasance."

5 Oklahomans Die In Head-on Crash
BEGGS, Okla. (AP)—Five persons were killed and three others critically injured Sunday when two cars collided head-on three miles north of here on State Highway 75.

Four of the dead were from Tulsa, while the other fatality was from Sapulpa.

Police said both cars were traveling down the center of the highway and met head-on. The accident occurred at 2:45 a.m.

Rohde's Friends Build House For Widow

Friends and neighbors of the late Donald Rohde are seen above working on a house for Rohde's widow and two children. Rohde, a 29-year-old University of Nebraska Law College student, was killed March 23 in a plane crash. The entire house will be built with volunteer labor and will have a finished value of about $12,000. Working on the project are (counterclockwise) Monroe Morford, "business manager" of the project (foreground with plans), Don Peterson, Jerry Peterson, Dean Huss, Marvin Peterson, Charles Hokanson, Saley Schroeder of Cleveland, N. Dak., and Harriet Kaldahl. Looking on are Hamlet Niswonger, Mrs. Rohde's father, (far right) and Art Peterson (peering over the wall), father of the three Peterson boys, who are working on the project. (Star Photo)

MYNA GIVES BOOZE-HUNTING POLICE 'BIRD'

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Detectives Jack Purdie and Paul Smith found whisky at a house they raided but no thanks to a talking myna bird.

While they searched the premises the bird repeatedly squawked.

"Shut up," "Say buddy, where do they keep the whisky?" cooed one detective to the myna.

"Go to hell," the bird snapped back.

Lincoln Star Special
DAVENPORT, Neb.—Total attendance at three worship services marking the 75th anniversary of the First Methodist Church here was about 700, the pastor, the Rev. Lloyd V. Mohrman, said.

The Rev. John P. Brooks, superintendent of the Geneva District of the Methodist Church, and Rev. E. Allen Magill, pastor of the Methodist Church at Red Cloud, spoke at special services.

Former ministers and former members were special guests at an afternoon service which followed a basket dinner.

Among the ministers present were the Rev. H. E. Bates of Omaha, the Rev. Dawson Parks of Aurora, the Rev. Lester Seger of Saroville and the Rev. Duard Cincch of Phillips.

The church's junior and senior choirs performed at both the morning and evening services.

The present church was constructed in 1909. The first church building was dedicated in 1884.

During the Rev. Mr. Mohrman's pastorate, the church and parsonage have been redecorated, an organ and chimes installed and the kitchen of the parsonage completely modernized.

Dartmouth College—

'Discrimination' Brings Frat To Drop National Linkup

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—The Dartmouth College chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa Sunday announced it has severed all connections with its national organization because "it is incongruous for an organization founded on brotherhood to sanction discrimination on the grounds of race, color or creed."

The announcement said the fraternity has been reorganized on a local basis under the name Phi Tau fraternity.

The statement by the members said: "Our primary allegiance as a college organization is to Dartmouth, and affiliation with a national organization is not necessary for the successful existence of a fraternity on this campus."

Columnist Riesel Has Painful Eye Exam, Treatments

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel, victim of a mystery acid thrower, went through a painful day of examinations and treatments Sunday but was reported in generally good condition.

Doctors are now in the crucial stage of their fight to save Riesel's eyes, damaged by sulphuric acid thrown in his face 10 days ago as he left a Broadway restaurant.

Alton Levy, assistant to the syndicated columnist, said "because of the frequency, length and nature of the examinations and treatments he has been suffering pain but his general physical condition remains good."

Laws To Curb 'Shocking Abuses' Of Labor Welfare, Pension Funds Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Labor subcommittee Sunday recommended immediate federal and state legislation to curb what it called "shocking abuses" in handling multibillion-dollar welfare and pension funds.

The committee, headed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), said it had uncovered enough instances of fraud and corruption in a two-year study to demonstrate a need for prompt safeguards.

Employee welfare and benefit plans have grown the committee said, to a point where they now provide benefits to 29 million workers and 46 million worker dependents, nearly half the country's total population.

$25 Billion

Assets of pension funds alone, the committee said, now total about $25 billion dollars. It said there are nearly a half-million separate plans with annual contributions from employers and workers amounting to nearly seven billion dollars and the figures are still increasing.

"The various abuses found in a minority of these programs and more importantly, the vast proportions to which they have grown place a grave responsibility on the government to protect the interests of the beneficiaries," the committee said.

The committee recommended that all types of employee welfare and pension plans covering 25 more workers be required to register with a federal agency, either an existing one or one to be created for that purpose.

Detailed annual financial reports would be required from all plans embracing 100 or more employees and these would have to be furnished to individual beneficiaries.

Criminal Penalties

Criminal penalties were recommended for willful filing of false reports or unlawfully diverting funds to individual use.

Douglas told a news conference that requiring complete public disclosure of such funds would in itself serve to curb fraud and mismanagement. He said states should follow through with more specific regulations.

Douglas said a bill embodying the committee's recommendations will be introduced in Congress. He expressed hope it will be passed this year. President Eisenhower has recommended welfare fund controls but Douglas said an administration bill now pending leaves too much discretion to the Labor Department.

Many Problems

The committee said failure to provide adequate safeguards before now has led to many problems. Its criticisms were aimed equally at labor unions, employers and insurance companies.

It said most welfare and pension plans have been administered soundly and honestly, even without controls, but "an unscrupulous minority has preyed upon" some plans.

Among "shocking abuses" reported by the committee were embezzlement, collusion, kickbacks, exorbitant insurance charges and "various other forms of malfeasance."

5 Oklahomans Die In Head-on Crash

BEGGS, Okla. (AP)—Five persons were killed and three others critically injured Sunday when two cars collided head-on three miles north of here on State Highway 75.

Four of the dead were from Tulsa, while the other fatality was from Sapulpa.

Police said both cars were traveling down the center of the highway and met head-on. The accident occurred at 2:45 a.m.

700 Attend 75th Year Observance

Lincoln Star Special

DAVENPORT, Neb.—Total attendance at three worship services marking the 75th anniversary of the First Methodist Church here was about 700, the pastor, the Rev. Lloyd V. Mohnkern, said.

The Rev. John P. Brooks, superintendent of the Geneva District of the Methodist Church, and Rev. E. Allen Magill, pastor of the Methodist Church at Red Cloud, spoke at special services.

Former ministers and former members were special guests at an afternoon service which followed a basket dinner.

Among the ministers present were the Rev. H. E. Bates of Omaha, the Rev. Dawson Parks of Aurora, the Rev. Lester Seger of Saronville and the Rev. Duard Cinch of Phillips.

The church's junior and senior choirs performed at both the morning and evening services.

The present church was constructed in 1909. The first church building was dedicated in 1884.

During the Rev. Mr. Mohnkern's pastorate, the church and parsonage have been redecorated, an organ and chimes installed and the kitchen of the parsonage completely modernized.

Dartmouth College—

'Discrimination' Brings Frat To Drop National Linkup

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—The Dartmouth College chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa Sunday announced it has severed all connections with its national organization because "it is incongruous for an organization founded on brotherhood to sanction discrimination on the grounds of race, color or creed."

The announcement said the fraternity has been reorganized on a local basis under the name Phi Tau Tau fraternity.

The statement by the members said:

"Our primary allegiance as a college organization is to Dartmouth, and affiliation with a national organization is not necessary for the successful existence of a fraternity on this campus."

Financial 'Burden'

Stating that national fraternity ties "impose a financial burden upon the brothers which is incongruous with the benefit received," the statement added: "We have been under no compulsion, save that of our consciences, to take this action."

The chapter took specific issue in its statement with a resolution passed at the 1952 convention of the national fraternity which prevents pledging Negroes into Phi Sigma Kappa. The chapter said it had thus far abided by the resolution, but it could no longer do so in keeping with its own principles and those of a college such as Dartmouth.

Columnist Riesel Has Painful Eye Exam, Treatments

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel, victim of a mystery acid thrower, went through a painful day of examinations and treatments Sunday but was reported in generally good condition.

Doctors are now in the crucial stage of their fight to save Riesel's eyes, damaged by sulphuric acid thrown in his face 10 days ago as he left a Broadway restaurant.

Alton Levy, assistant to the syndicated columnist, said "because of the frequency, length and nature of the examinations and treatments he has been suffering pain but his general physical condition remains good."

Stalin's Homeland Georgia Appears Quiet Month After Rioting

Associated Press correspondent Max ... in Tbilisi, capital of the Soviet Republic of Georgia, ... the first group of Western newsmen permitted to visit Georgia since the bloody ... there last month, there is a ... from the area.

By ROY ESSOYAN
TIFLIS, Georgia, U.S.S.R. — Armed troops Sunday patrolled the sunny suburbs of Tiflis where pro-Stalin demonstrations took place last month.
Five weeks after the demonstrations marking the third anniversary of Stalin's death, this capital of his native Georgia appeared calm and quiet on the surface. Soldiers on leave mingled with Sunday crowd in downtown.
"It is calm, yes," one Georgian said, and then refused to say more.
No Officials Available
Two Americans and one British correspondent arrived in Tiflis Sunday.

day. They were the first Western newsmen in the area since last month's demonstrations. No government or Communist party officials were available for interviews over the weekend.
Georgians in general were guarded in their comment but they let no doubt that demonstrations had taken place as reported.
(About 50 words censored here).
Referring to the demonstrators one Georgian said:
"All they were doing were shouting glory to Lenin, glory to Stalin. There were no provocateurs. They were only children and students. Young boys and girls."
According to reports, student paraded in front of the Tiflis government buildings on March 2, with placards of Lenin and Stalin.
(About 40 words censored here).
Asked if he thought order had now been restored for good he said:

"All rulers are despots. How can you rule otherwise? Look at Napoleon."
Then he added: "Government can come and governments can go. The peoples go on."
The Georgians are proud of their national heritage, and proud of still of the glory that Stalin brought to Georgia. His downgrading and denunciation by the present government has gone down hard here.
This feeling has its practical aspects. During Stalin's rule, Tiflis ranked with Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev as first priority cities for scarce consumer goods.
(About 50 words censored here).
Tiflis, its streets—five words censored—looks like a sleepy garrison town nestling in a lush valley capped by soaring peaks.

(About 60 words censored).
The arrival of three Western correspondents quite obviously startled the residents. The correspondents were followed by openly curious stares. Persons they stopped to talk with could not hide their amazement that the visitors were actually from the West.
"Are you allowed to come here?" one asked.
Except for an officially-escorted Swedish delegation no Westerners have been permitted in Tiflis since the student demonstrations.
Since the flareups in early March, all organs of the Soviet propaganda machine have been devoted to restoring order and working against any repetition of the incidents.
Dawn of the East, the newspaper of the Georgian Communist party has been drumming away at the evils of the cult of the individual as symbolized by Stalin and glorifying the advantages of collective leadership.

Public address systems on the street corners carry the message direct to the people.
An editorial Sunday attacked certain Georgian writers for "bourgeois nationalism." A front-page story criticized Georgian newspaper editors for failing to carry on the work of agitation and propaganda properly and for poor ideological training of the youth.
This has been one point the newspaper has been hammering at since the students got out of hand.
Despite the government's downgrading of Stalin, statues, busts and portraits of him are in evidence everywhere in Tiflis.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles
Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astranga of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

TV Comic Says Radio Good, Too
Johnny Carson, radio and television star, advised young aspirants to "know the television or radio business well" before trying to get on a national network.
Both the radio and television fields are equally good, Carson said. He noted that last year one of the networks had the largest radio year in its history.
Carson and his wife, the former Jody Wolcott of North Platte, were in Lincoln Saturday and Sunday. Carson spoke to Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio fraternity, at the University of Nebraska.
A graduate of the University of Nebraska in 1949, Carson worked for several years for an Omaha radio and television station.
More recently he has appeared on a national network in his own show, aptly called "The Johnny Carson Show." He has also appeared on "What's My Line" and as a substitute for Robert Q. Lewis.
Carson is planning to start a new show "within six weeks or two months." He said it will be a half-hour daytime show and will feature informal variety and comedy. It will be on five days a week.
He said he plans guest appearances on the Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan shows before his new program begins.
The Carsons have three sons, ages two, three and five, and are presently living at Encino, Calif.
"I hope we can do the new show from California," Carson said, "because we think it is a better place to bring up three boys than it would be in New York City."
The Carsons spent Sunday visiting with their families at a reunion in Lincoln. Sunday evening they traveled to Omaha to visit former co-workers from Omaha.

Grain, Feed Dealer Group Opens Session
A board of directors meeting and dinner opened the 28th annual convention of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Assn. in Lincoln Sunday.
Secretary Howard W. Elm of Lincoln, who presented his annual report at the board meeting, said from 400 to 500 persons are expected to attend the convention, which runs through Tuesday.
Highlights of the program include speeches Monday afternoon by Marvin McLain, assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, and Capt. William Mott, assistant to the chief of staff at Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Center.
McLain will discuss "Are We Making Progress in Solving the Farm Problem?" and Mott will talk on "World Events From a Ringside Seat."
Election Scheduled
Election of officers will be held Monday afternoon. Andy Von Rein of North Bend is president of the group and Rex Hagemeister of Crawford is vice president. The terms of four directors—Charles Deaver of Sidney, William Dainton of Milford, Ray Cogill of Ogallala and Clarence Jacobson of Lexington—also have expired.
Other speakers Monday include Galen White of the Stored-Product Insects Laboratory at Manhattan, Kan., and George Rolles of the George A. Rolles Co. of Boone, Iowa.
Tuesday speakers include F. E. Mussehl, head of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture poultry department; Philip Kelly, chairman of the University's dairy husbandry department; R. J. Meade, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the University; Tom Dowe, professor of animal husbandry at the University; and John K. Westberg of the International Minerals & Chemical Corp. in Chicago.

Robinson In Lineup As Pennant Races Open

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Spring training is over and the St. Louis Cardinals rule as champions of the "Don't Count" league. Even the Pittsburgh Pirates inhale the heady first division air.

But a day of reckoning is fast approaching. They start playing baseball for keeps Tuesday. The odds-makers have installed the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, last season's World Series opponents, as even-money favorites to repeat.

With the exception of Neal, Manager Walter Alton is sticking with the men who made him in 1955, ignoring newcomer Ransom Jackson to start the rejuvenated Jackie Robinson at third base. Don Newcombe gets the expected call as starting pitcher on the strength of his .359 batting average. It will be Newk's first opener since 1950 as this job normally is reserved for Carl Erskine who will do the honors Thursday in the secondary opener at Jersey City. Robin Roberts, an opening day fixture since 1950, will start off the Phillies for the seventh successive season. The Newcombe-Roberts pairing, a frequent attraction during the regular season, should provide the best battle of the day with 25,000 fans expected.

The Yankees won't be home to start their season, bowing in before President Eisenhower at Washington where Manager Casey Stengel has assigned Don Larsen to face the Nats' Camilo Pascual.

Battered By Injuries
Injuries have battered the Yanks in the final weeks of spring training and another epidemic hobbled Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra in the final exhibition. However, all three are expected to be ready to face Washington.

Stengel finally provided the answer to the nine-man shortstop derby by listing rookie Jerry Lumpe, a recruit from Birmingham, as his starter. Although Lumpe was handicapped by a pulled leg muscle in the early games, he quickly passed the others and took charge while Gil McDougald was sidelined. On the strength of a 300 spring average, Lumpe got the word from Stengel over veteran Phil Rizzuto.

The usual opening day fanfare and Washington's "new faces" lineup will attract a sellout crowd of 25,758 to Griffith Stadium. Manager Chuck Dressen will field a brand new outfield of Dick Tietze, back and Whitey Herzog, ex-Yankees, and Karl Olson, ex-Red Sox. He also will have a rookie catcher in Lou Berberet, another former Yank.

Ziegenbein and battery mate Jim Kane, also a sophomore, were involved in an automobile accident and will be sidelined for an indefinite period.

White Sox Vs. Indians
A crowd of 33,000 is due in Chicago to watch the White Sox open against the Cleveland Indians with Billy Pierce opposing the Tribe's Bob Lemon. In addition to providing a close-up to last year's most important off season deal, the opener will give White Sox fans a chance to see Luis Aparicio, their highly touted new shortstop. Larry Doby in a Chicago uniform and Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby in Cleveland flannels will remind all of the big trade.

All three new major league managers will do their masterminding in the National. Two of the newcomers, Billy Rigney of New York and Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh, will duel at the Polo Grounds.

Rigney still is wrestling with a second-base problem and hopes starter Daryl Spencer will learn the trade as he goes along. Dusty Rhodes as the left-field starter is another new twist to the Giant picture. The Pirates will have rookie Danny Kravitz catching, Bob Friend and Bobby del Greco, back for another whirl, in center field. Johnny Antonelli will pitch for the Giants before 25,000.

Other New Manager
Freddie Hutchinson, the other new manager, will find out if his Cards can live up to their spring showing when they move into Cincinnati for a battle of left-handers. Vinegar Bend Mizell of the Cards and Joe Nuxhall of the Redlegs will be the pitchers with 30,000 due to watch. Hank Sauer in left field for the Cards and rookie Frank Robinson in left for Cincy are the only newcomers.

Charlie Grimm switched from Bob Buhl to Lew Burdette as his Milwaukee starter against Chicago's Bob Rush at Milwaukee after Buhl was hit hard Saturday. The 43,117 Braves fans will see about the same club that played last year. New Cubs will be Monte Irvin in left, Don Hoak on third and Walt Moryr in right field.

Redlegs Fall To Indianapolis, 8-4
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn. scored five runs on five singles in the eighth inning to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 8-4 here Sunday.

The Redlegs led 4-3 in the top of the eighth, gaining the advantage on Ted Klusczewski's three-run homer.

Rudy Minarcin, who relieved Redleg starter Art Fowler in the eighth, gave up three singles and a base on balls for four of the five Indian runs. Bud Peddiehan relieved Minarcin and was nipped for the fifth run.

A trio of Indianapolis hurlers held the Redlegs to only six hits, while their teammates battered Redlegs hurlers for eleven.

Bill Pfeiff doesn't look like a man who was setting high school shot put records 20 years ago. The newly-retired Lincoln High football coach has the appearance of a much younger man.

In his new capacity as activities director at Lincoln High, Pfeiff will be working with many students, not just athletes. The leadership and guidance he offered to 10 football squads will now be available to a large number.

Bill will be missed, but he leaves his job in capable hands. Ed Schwartzkopf, to whom Pfeiff gave much of the credit for the fine Lincoln lines of recent years, is cut in the mold of his predecessor.

All of Ed's Lin linemen weren't all-stars, but they had one thing in common: they had to like it tough or they didn't make it.

McDevitt, Morse Fight For Third-Base Spot

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —Lincoln's roster continued to grow Sunday. General Manager Dick Wagner announced that the Chiefs will have John T. McDevitt as a candidate for the third base job.

The other third base job is John Morse, signed recently as a free agent after a good year in the Negro American League.

McDevitt, as of the moment, seems to have Manager Larry Shepard's eye. He drew the starting nod against Sam Houston State Sunday afternoon.

This will be the freckle-faced redhead's first year in baseball since 1933. McDevitt just got out of the Army after a two-year hitch, but he apparently hasn't been hampered by a couple of years with Uncle Sam. He is 24, stands 5-11 and weighs 175.

During spring drills here he has been very impressive at the plate, hitting consistently and occasionally with good power. He is a right-handed hitter.

Actually, playing third base will necessitate a little learning on McDevitt's part since he has been a shortstop in the past. The Chiefs have Ray Swarts at short and Shepard wants McDevitt to handle the hot corner.

With Visalia in the California League (Class C) in 1953, McDevitt hit .261 in 71 games. He hit 15 doubles, three triples and eight home runs.

McDevitt could supply the Chiefs with good depth, too. In addition to playing a good third base, he can handle short and some Pirate officials here think he would make a fine second baseman.

John will be welcome at Lincoln if for no other reason than the fact that the local fans didn't get to see a third-sacker all last season. Manager Bill Burwell at various times had to fill in with Howie Padgett, Gordie Figard, Jack Falls and Warren Goodrich, none of whom were up to the task.

Lincoln trainer Jim Van Deusen —here to help the Pirates before returning to Lincoln with the Chiefs —has studied the ball players at Huntsville since March 6 and has this to say about McDevitt: "There's a guy who really wants to play baseball. He loves the game and wants to play — anywhere — just so he plays. He ought to help us a lot."

Rich King, freshman center, is also on the injured list and will miss the rest of spring practice. King twisted his ankle in practice Friday night and missed the scrimmage. His ankle has been put in a cast and he was discharged from the Student Health Center Sunday.

Lyle Martin, third team right halfback, suffered a rib injury during the scrimmage, but Coach Elliott said he would be ready for practice this week.

DeLougelle And Morse Star As Lincoln Romps

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —Combining flashes of sparkling pitching and power hitting the Lincoln Chiefs Sunday afternoon shattered Sam Houston State College, 16-1, in the final exhibition game before journeying North to start the Western League season.

The game was played at the state prison rodeo grounds near Huntsville before some 1,000 white uniformed convicts, who while impartial as to the contestants, were unanimous in disliking the umpires. Lincoln's power-packed lineup pounded out five home runs and two doubles.

Two of the homers were by Johnny Morse, a 1955 star in the Negro American League.

His first clout came when he pinch hit in the fifth inning.

Makes Good
Only two men reached base during DeLougelle's stay, both via errors. The 21-year-old righthander was on trial Sunday and made good.

DeLougelle played for Bristol in the Appalachian League (Class D) in 1953 and had a 9-7 record, fanning 161 in 172 innings. In 1954 he was 4-3 at St. Johns (Class C) and 5-3 at Clinton (Class D.)

Last year he was 1-1 at Billings and 1-1 at Phoenix before a sore arm sent him home after only 45 days of the season. He has been making a comeback this spring and Shepard wanted to see him work.

Wait responded well. There wasn't a ball hit out of the infield and he fanned three collegians.

Mulcahy allowed one other hit during his three innings and struck out three.

Andy Olsen, a stylish southpaw, and Lincoln pitcher Dick Drilling went an inning apiece and weren't tagged.

The Chiefs picked up a one-run lead in the first when Shepard had third baseman John McDevitt—who had led off with a double and went to third on an infield out—steal home.

From then on Lincoln scored in every frame but the third.

Other home runs were hit by catcher Joe Zabattaro, centerfielder Tony Iammatteo and leftfielder Bill Jackson.

Shortstop Ray Swarts and Iammatteo were the top hitters, the former getting three for six and the latter three for five.

Swarts batted out a double and drove in five runs. Other top hitters included McDevitt (2-3), first baseman Dick Stuart (two for five), Zabattaro, (two for three) and Morse (two for two, both homers).

Lincoln will break camp here Monday night and journey to Topeka for the WL season Thursday.

Fangio Wins Race Driving Ferrari
SIRACUSA, Sicily (AP)—World racing champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina Sunday won the Grand Prize of Siracusa race for Formula One cars in a Ferrari.

Luigi Musso of Italy and Peter Collins of Britain, also in Ferraris, finished second and third. Rain cut down the speed.

Fangio was timed in 2 hours, 48 minutes, 59.0 seconds over the 440-kilometer course, for an average speed of 156.217 k.p.h.

Fangio opened his European competition this season with Sunday's victory. He also will race in the Mille Miglia (1,000 mile) race in Italy later this month.

Kansas City Beats Cards

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics belted four St. Louis pitchers for 10 hits and Lou Krehlow turned in a sparkling three-hit performance Sunday as the A's won their final exhibition game of the season 6-1.

A total of 30,770 fans braved chilly, windy weather to watch the A's make a clean sweep of the two-game series. The A's won Saturday 6-3.

Arroyo Optioned To Omaha Cards

OMAHA (AP)—Luis Arroyo, left handed hurler who compiled the second best won-loss record with the St. Louis Cardinals last year, Sunday was optioned to Omaha of the American Assn.

General Manager Bill Bergesch of the Omaha club announced the acquisition of Arroyo, who started out by winning his first six games last year for St. Louis, and then slumped at mid-season. His record was 11-8. Arroyo was picked for the baseball All-Star game last year.

Bergesch said Omaha also had purchased from Houston of the Texas League Hiran Gaston. A right handed pitcher, Gaston pitched a part of last season for Peoria of the Three-I League, compiling a 2-2 record.

Robinson In Lineup As Pennant Races Open

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Spring training is over and the eager St. Louis Cardinals rule as champions of the "Don't Count" league. Even the Pittsburgh Pirates inhale the heady first division air.

But a day of reckoning is fast approaching. They start playing baseball for keeps Tuesday. The oddsmakers have installed the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, last season's World Series opponents, as even-money favorites to repeat.

Brooklyn will trot out a brand new second baseman in Charlie Neal, up from Montreal, when the Dodgers raise their first world championship pennant at Ebbets Field before their game with Philadelphia.

With the exception of Neal, Manager Walter Alton is sticking with the men who made him in 1955, ignoring newcomer Ransom Jackson to start the rejuvenated Jackie Robinson at third base.

Don Newcombe gets the expected call as starting pitcher on the strength of his .359 batting average. It will be Newk's first opener since 1950 as this job normally is reserved for Carl Erskine who will do the honors Thursday in the secondary opener at Jersey City.

Robin Roberts, an opening day fixture since 1950, will start off the Phillies for the seventh successive season. The Newcombe-Roberts pairing, a frequent attraction during the regular season, should provide the best battle of the day with 25,000 fans expected.

The Yankees won't be home to start their season, bowing in before President Eisenhower at Washington where Manager Casey Stengel has assigned Don Larsen to face the Nats' Camilo Pascual.

Bothered By Injuries
Injuries have bothered the Yanks in the final weeks of spring training and another epidemic hobbled Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra in the final exhibition. However, all three are expected to be ready to face Washington.

Stengel finally provided the answer to the nine-man shortstop derby by listing rookie Jerry Lumpe, a recruit from Birmingham, as his starter. Although Lumpe was handicapped by a pulled leg muscle in the early games, he quickly passed the others and took charge while Gil McDougald was sidelined. On the strength of a .300 spring average, Lumpe got the word from Stengel over veteran Phil Rizzuto.

The usual opening fanfare and Washington's "new faces" lineup will attract a sellout crowd of 28,578 to Griffith Stadium. Manager Chuck Dressen will field a brand new outfield of Dick Tuttlebach and Whitey Herzog, ex-Yankees, and Karl Olson, ex-Red Sox. He also will have a rookie catcher in Lou Berberet, another former Yank.

Detroit counts on the largest opening day crowd, about 45,000, to watch the Tigers tangle with the Kansas City Athletics, who will start lefthander Alex Kellner, pitching his fourth opener against Frank Lary, a sophomore of promise. Manager Bucky Harris of the Tigers is going along with Reno Bertoia at second and probably Jim Delsing in left, still hoping for a trade. The A's moved Hector Lopez from third base to center field, shifted Jim Finigan back to third and gave Spook Jacobs the second base job in late switches.

Hope is high in Boston that this might be the year for the youthful Red Sox with rookies Don Buddin at short and Frank Malzone at third, a talented oldtimer like Mickey Vernon on first, plus outfielder Ted Williams for a full season. Frank Sullivan will try to get the Sox off on the right foot before 20,000 opposing Baltimore's Bill Wight. The Orioles' most important addition is outfielder Tito Francona.

White Sox Vs. Indians

A crowd of 33,000 is due in Chicago to watch the White Sox open against the Cleveland Indians with Billy Pierce opposing the Tribe's Bob Lemon. In addition to providing a close-up of last year's most important off season deal, the opener will give White Sox fans a chance to see Luis Aparicio, their highly touted new shortstop. Larry Doby in a Chicago uniform and Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby in Cleveland flannels will remind all of the big trade.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn. scored five runs on five singles in the eighth inning to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 8-4 here Sunday.

The Redlegs led 4-3 in the top of the eighth, gaining the advantage on Ted Kluszewski's three-run homer.

Rudy Minarcin, who relieved Redleg starter Art Fowler in the eighth, gave up three singles and a base on balls for four of the five Indian runs. Bud Podbielan relieved Minarcin and was nicked for the fifth run.

Ray Jablonski also hit a homer in the fifth.

McDevitt, Morse Fight For Third-Base Spot

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —Lincoln's roster continued to grow Sunday. General Manager Dick Wagner announced that the Chiefs will have John T. McDevitt as a candidate for the third base job.

The other third-sacker is John Morse, signed recently as a free agent after a good year in the Negro American League.

NU Mistakes Normal—Pete

"We didn't fumble too much, but we still have a long way to go."

That's the way Nebraska football Coach Pete Elliott described last Saturday's second intra-squad scrimmage of the Huskers spring football practice.

Although Coach Elliott said that there was no "one big trouble" in the scrimmage, there were the normal mistakes in offense and defense and the normal amount of missed assignments.

Roger Khronek, injured during the scrimmage Sunday was reported to be "getting along well."

Khronek, listed as the second team left halfback last week, is in the Student Health Center at the University.

Several tendons on his right knee were torn early in the scrimmage, and the former Lincoln High grid star will undergo surgery Tuesday.

Rich King, freshman center, is also on the injured list and will miss the rest of spring practice. King twisted his ankle in practice Friday night and missed the scrimmage. His ankle has been put in a cast and he was discharged from the Student Health Center Sunday.

Lyle Martin, third team right halfback, suffered a rib injury during the scrimmage, but Coach Elliott said he would be ready for practice this week.

DeLougelle And Morse Star As Lincoln Romps

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —Combining flashes of sparkling pitching and power hitting the Lincoln Chiefs Sunday afternoon shattered Sam Houston State College, 16-1, in the final exhibition game before journeying North to start the Western League season.

The game was played at the state prison rodeo grounds near Huntsville before some 1,000 white uniformed convicts, who while impartial as to the contestants, were unanimous in disliking the umpires. Lincoln's power-packed lineup pounded out five home runs and two doubles.

Two of the homers were by Johnny Morse, a 1955 star in the Negro American League.

His first clout came when he pinch hit in the fifth inning.

Manager Larry Shepard used four pitchers during the rout and the first one—Wall DeLougelle—won himself a trip north by chucking no-hit ball for four innings.

Makes Good
Only two men reached base during DeLougelle's stay, both via errors. The 21-year-old righthander was on trial Sunday and made good.

DeLougelle played for Bristol in the Appalachian League (Class D) in 1953 and had a 9-7 record, fanning 161 in 172 innings. In 1954 he was 4-3 at St. Johns (Class C) and 5-3 at Clinton (Class D.)

Last year he was 1-1 at Billings and 1-1 at Phoenix before a sore arm sent him home after only 45 days of the season. He has been making a comeback this spring and Shepard wanted to see him work.

Wall responded well. There wasn't a ball hit out of the infield and he fanned three collegians.

Sam Houston got its only run in the sixth inning off righthander Tom Mulcahy, on loan to Lincoln, by virtue of a fielder's choice, a single and a double.

Mulcahy allowed one other hit during his three innings and struck out three.

Andy Olsen, a stylish southpaw, and Lincoln pitcher Dick Drilling went an inning apiece and weren't tagged.

The Chiefs picked up a one-run lead in the first when Shepard had third baseman John McDevitt—who had led off with a double and went to third on an infield out—steal home.

From then on Lincoln scored in every frame but the third.

Other home runs were hit by catcher Joe Zabattaro, centerfielder Tony Iammatteo and leftfielder Bill Jackson.

Shortstop Ray Swarts and Iammatteo were the top hitters, the former getting three for six and the latter three for five.

Swarts banged out a double and drove in five runs. Other top hitters included McDevitt (2-3), first baseman Dick Stuart (two for five), Zabattaro, (two for three) and Morse (two for two, both homers).

Lincoln will break camp here Monday night and journey to Topeka for the WL season Thursday.

Fangio Wins Race Driving Ferrari

SIRACUSA, Sicily (AP)—World racing champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina Sunday won the Grand Prix of Siracusa race for Formula One cars in a Ferrari.

Luigi Musso of Italy and Peter Collins of Britain, also in Ferraris, finished second and third. Rain cut down the speed.

Fangio was timed in 2 hours, 48 minutes, 59.0 seconds over the 440-kilometer course, for an average speed of 156.217 k.p.h.

Fangio opened his European competition this season with Sunday's victory. He also will race in the Mille Miglia (1,000 mile) race in Italy later this month.

Max Coshall, San Jose State's 165-pound NCAA boxing champion, also competes in soccer and runs the 880 on the track team.

Kansas City Beats Cards

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics belted four St. Louis pitchers for 10 hits and Lou Kretlow turned in a sterling three hit performance Sunday as the A's won their final exhibition game of the season 6-1.

A total of 30,770 fans braved chill, windy weather to watch the A's make a clean sweep of the two-game series. The A's won Saturday 6-3.

Arroyo Optioned To Omaha Cards

OMAHA (AP)—Luis Arroyo, left handed hurler who compiled the second best won-loss record with the St. Louis Cardinals last year, Sunday was optioned to Omaha of the American Assn.

General Manager Bill Bergesch of the Omaha club announced the acquisition of Arroyo, who started out by winning his first six games last year for St. Louis, and then slumped at mid-season. His record was 11-8. Arroyo was picked for the baseball All-Star game last year.

Bergesch said Omaha also had purchased from Houston of the Texas League Hiran Gaston. A right handed pitcher, Gaston pitched a part of last season for Peoria of the Three-I League, compiling a 2-2 record.

Boston, Philadelphia Dominate All-Pro Team

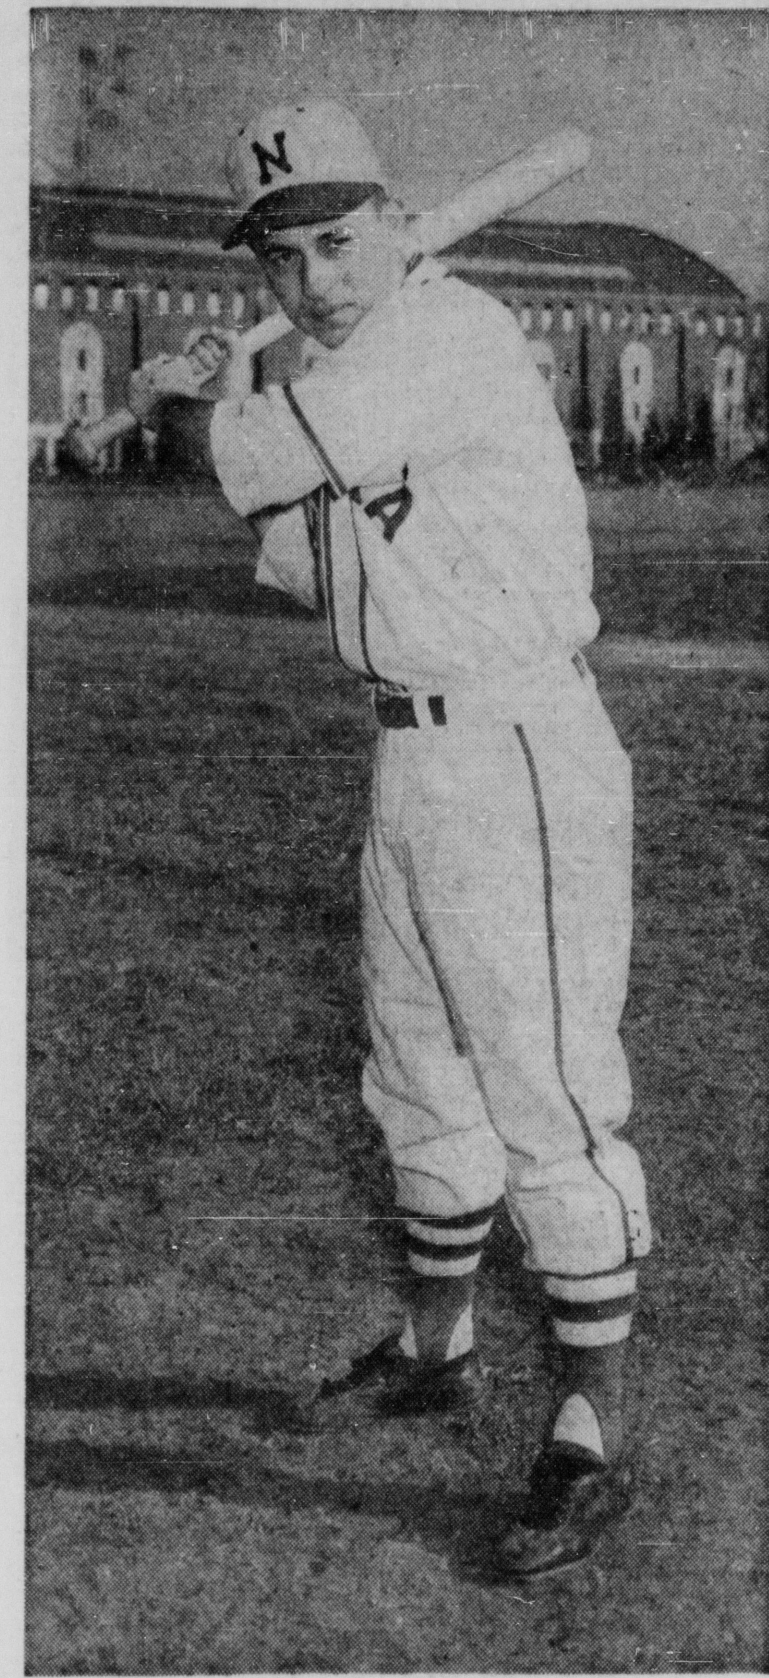

NEW YORK (INS)—Boston and Philadelphia placed two men apiece on the National Basketball Association's 1955-56 all-star team.

Fisher Sets '56 Discus, Shot Marks

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

Larry Fisher, Beatrice's husky young weight specialist put two new "bests" in the books last week to highlight Nebraska high school track and field performances.

Fisher's performances in the Central Nebraska Invitational meet at Hastings were the best reported this spring.

He threw the shot 54-5 1/4 to top the previous best of 54-2 by Grand Island's Don Olson. His discus throw of 151-3 1/4 bettered the 149-2 1/4 toss by Dick Egen of Hastings.

Fisher beat both Olson and Egen in their specialties in the Hastings meet.

Fisher, Olson and Duane Buchtel were joined by two other Nebraskans in the select group of 50-foot-plus shot-putters. Larry Hofeldt of Wayne threw 50-4 1/4 and Charles Marasco of Tech reached 50-2.

Six other new top marks went into the books. They were:

A 2-2 1/4 half mile by Ken Ash of Omaha North.

An 8:34 two-mile relay clocking by Bellevue.

A 3:34.5 mile relay time by Lincoln High.

A 15-foot clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles by state champion Larry Feaster of Grand Island.

A 12-foot pole vault by Jim Kraft of Scottsbluff.

A 6-5 high jump by Bill Harmon of Omaha North. The leap was one-half inch short of the state record.

Lowell Gaither of Falls City failed to lower his mile time of 4:44.7, but he came close with a 4:44.8.

Charles Hallstead of Scottsbluff and Ron Person of Columbus won share the 180-yard low hurdle honors with Falls City's Karl Faller.

All three are credited with winning times of :20.9.

The best marks reported to date: 100-yard dash—Wade Kemper, Alliance and George Peterson, Nebraska City, :10. 220-yard dash—George Peterson, Nebraska City, :21.5. 440-yard dash—Ed Hubbard, Omaha South, :51.7. 880-yard run—Ken Ash, Omaha North, 2:02.9. Mile run—Lowell Gaither, Falls City, 4:44.7. 120-yard high hurdles—Larry Feaster, Grand Island, :15. 180-yard low hurdles—Ron Person, Columbus; Charles Hallstead, Scottsbluff; and Karl Faller, Falls City, :20.9. Two-mile relay—Bellevue, 8:34. Mile relay—Lincoln, 3:34.5. 880-yard relay—Scottsbluff, 1:34.1. Shot put—Larry Fisher, Beatrice, 54-5 1/4. Discus—Larry Fisher, Beatrice, 151-3 1/4. Pole vault—Jim Kraft, Scottsbluff, 12. High jump—Bill Harmon, Omaha North, 6-5. Broad jump—Jerry Collier, Falls City, 21-3 1/4.

Lincoln Net Team Blanks Concordia

The Lincoln Tennis Club blanked the Concordia College tennis team, 5-0, Sunday.

Betty Torrey of Lincoln defeated Louis Katzman of Concordia in the only women's match, 6-0, 6-0.

Results: Bill Torrey (L) defeated Paul Boger, 6-3, 6-3. Ray Abernathy (L) defeated Ken Easer, 6-3, 6-3. Win Elmen (L) defeated Ralph Krueger, 6-2, 6-1. Duane Warwick (L) defeated Manuel Perez, 6-2, 6-1. Betty Torrey (L) defeated Louise Katzman, 6-0, 6-0.

Coach Tony Sharpe's Nebraska baseball team will initiate its 1956 Big Seven season Friday on the Cornhusker diamond.

The Huskers will host Kansas State in the opener. The teams will also be matched Saturday in a second game.

Mound strength for the Nebraska team was badly marred by the loss of Charley Ziegenbein, sophomore pitcher who Coach Sharpe had expected to develop into one of the top hurlers on the staff.

Ziegenbein and battery mate Jim Kane, also a sophomore, were involved in an automobile accident and will be sidelined for an indefinite period.

The Nebraska track team will compete in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence Saturday in its only appearance this week.

Thursday the Huskers are hosting Washburn's golf and tennis teams, with the Kansas tennis team here Saturday. Nebraska golfers will be in Colorado Saturday.

Braves Rally, Trim Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves came from behind with two runs in the eighth inning Sunday to defeat the Cleveland Indians 3-2 as both teams wound up their exhibition schedule preparatory to the start of the baseball season Tuesday.

The Indians had taken a 2-1 lead in the seventh on a double by Vic Wertz and a single by pitcher Mike Garcia. The Braves' came back in the next frame to wrap up the game on two walks, two singles, a passed ball and a high throw by shortstop Chico Carrasquel.

Garcia, who relieved Early Wynn in the sixth frame, was charged with the loss. Ernie Johnson was the winner.

Red Murff, Ray Crone and Johnson held the Indians to five hits, including a double and a single off Wertz. The Braves got nine hits off Wynn and Garcia.

Wynn blanked the Braves until the fifth, when a single by Crone brought Bill Bruton home from second. Bruton had reached first on a force out and stole second.

The Indians opened the scoring in the fourth frame when on Avila walked, stole second and then scored when Wertz singled. Milwaukee finished the exhibition season with a 16-13 record, against major league opposition. The Indians won 20 games and lost 15.

Middleweight Bouts Top Ring Card

By The Associated Press
The middleweight division keeps the boxing world spinning this week with Bobby Boyd meeting Holly Mims and Tiger Jones facing Gene Fullmer in bouts that might produce an eventual challenger for the Ray Robinson-Bobo Olson winner.

Archie Moore, the light-heavy champ, keeps busy with another non-title tuneup on his once-a-week schedule, boxing 220-pound George Parmenter at Seattle on Monday night.

Ex-heavy champ Ezzard Charles is slated to go to work at Windsor, Ont., Saturday against Don Jasper and Willie Pep, the former feather kung, appears in his home of Hartford, Conn., Tuesday against Jackie Blair.

Nino Valdes, giant Cuban heavy weight, will test Eddie Machen, latest California phenom, at San Francisco Monday and Texas continues its boxing revival with an Isaac Logart El Conscripto welterweight match Tuesday at Houston.

The television schedule starts Monday with a featherweight bout from St. Nicholas Arena in New York, featuring Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio. When they met Feb. 27, Bell won a split decision. The match will be seen on Dumont.

Boyd, a high-ranking young middleweight contender from Chicago, takes on Mims at the Chicago Stadium in the Wednesday show (ABC TV). In Boyd's last start he scored a surprising victory over Eduardo Lausse of Argentina. Mims has met them all since 1948.

The Friday show (NBC) wanders to the Cleveland Arena for the Tiger Jones-Fullmer scrap.

The Mid-East meeting will also match tennis and golf teams from the loop members. Hastings, Beatrice and Fairbury are the other teams in the conference.

Baseball action resumes today when Northeast hosts Southeast in a rescheduled game which was postponed because of bad weather last week.

Other diamond tilts this week include Lincoln High at Omaha South and Southeast at Omaha Holy Name Friday and Creighton Prep at Lincoln High Saturday.

Lincoln High, after finishing a surprising second in the Central Nebraska meet at Hastings last week, will entertain the Boys Town track team this afternoon.

Tuesday Cathedral journeys to Seward for a dual meet, its second of the year.

Tennis matches are slated for every Capital City school that fields a team. Monday Boys Town is at Lincoln High. Tuesday Fairbury travels to Northeast. Wednesday Southeast and Lincoln High meet in an intra-city battle, with Southeast and Northeast in the Mid-East meet Thursday.

Lincoln High returns Boys Town's visit Friday to conclude court action for the week.

On the links, Northeast hosts Fairbury Tuesday and the Rockets are sending an alternate team to a Fremont tourney on the same day.

Wednesday Southeast and Lincoln High golfers meet at Pioneer, with the Mid-East meet Thursday. Friday Lincoln High golfers are at Boys Town.

(LINER NOTES)—Local track competitors have turned in some of the better times reported in the state in many events, but sprinters and hurdlers are in big demand.

None of city teams have done well in the dashes or over the hurdles.

Among the better marks registered to date is a 3:34.5 clocking in the mile relay by Lincoln High's team of Carl True, Jack Muck, Dean Sell and Joe Gacusan.

The time was the best reported for Nebraska preppers this spring, and set a new record in the Central Nebraska meet.

Jeff Chevront of Southeast scored 5:10.7 in a practice meet against Cathedral to take a strong grip on the lead in that event. His jump was more than two inches higher than his previous best.

Dean Sell of Lincoln High has recorded two of the top running times. He ran an easy 2:04.8 half mile at Hastings last week, and has a 1:50 clocking over the 120-yard high hurdles.

The rugged Link senior has the power and speed to crack the two-minute barrier in the 880 with the proper competition.

The top marks by Capital City tracksters:

100-yard dash—Ron Galois of Lincoln High, 10.8
200-yard dash—J. V. Olson of Uni High and Ron Galois of Lincoln High, 24.8
400-yard dash—Carl True of Lincoln High, 1:11
800-yard run—Dean Sell of Lincoln High, 2:04.8
1,600 run—George Rolofson of Northeast, 4:45
120-yard high hurdles—Dean Sell of Lincoln High, 1:50
180-yard low hurdles—Dick Jacobs of Lincoln High, 2:15
300-yard relay—Lincoln High (Ron Galois, Carl True, Dean Sell, Joe Gacusan), 1:35
400-yard relay—Lincoln High (Jack Muck, Carl True, Dean Sell, Joe Gacusan), 3:34.5
Two-mile relay—Lincoln High (Sam Bell, Dick Bera, Larry Black, Terry Brown), 13:27
Broad jump—Mary Bauer of University High, 30-4
High jump—Jeff Chevront of Southeast, 5-10
Pole vault—Bill Swanson of Lincoln High, 11-7
Shot put—Gene Dittmer of Northeast, 40-7
Discus—Joe Gacusan of Lincoln High, 138-7.4

Each club leader wins a smaller individual prize. The Exchange Club prize goes to the two persons tied for third place since top men in that club picked up the grand prizes for the workers.

Chadwell, Smith Tour Hillcrest In 70; First Pro-Amateur Today

Sparkling two-under par rounds on a pair of golfers at the Hillcrest Country Club course high lighted weekend golf in Lincoln.

Gene Chadwell and Ed Smith registered their 70s at Hillcrest on Saturday. Chadwell fired a 33-37 and Smith banged out a 34-36—70 round.

Today Hillcrest will be the site of the first state-wide pro-amateur tourney of the year.

Play will begin at 1 p.m. Golfers wishing to play in the tourney must contact the clubhouse not later than 1 p.m.

Saturday golfers were attracted to all courses in almost record attendance, although wind marred play in the afternoon.

At HILLCREST White Reed had rounds of 72 and 74 on Saturday and Sunday for runnerup honors to Chadwell and Smith. Stan Stroh

Satan Chiefs Win

The Satan Chiefs, Nebraska Prep Itinerary dormitory team, beat NU Sigma Chi 3-2 in a baseball game Sunday. Gustis of wind delayed play and it took the teams 2 hours and 40 minutes to play seven innings.

Middleweight Bouts Top Ring Card

By The Associated Press
The middleweight division keeps the boxing world spinning this week with Bobby Boyd meeting Holly Mims and Tiger Jones facing Gene Fullmer in bouts that might produce an eventual challenger for the Ray Robinson-Bobo Olson winner.

Archie Moore, the light-heavy champ, keeps busy with another non-title tuneup on his once-a-week schedule, boxing 220-pound George Parmentier at Seattle on Monday night.

Ex-heavy champ Ezzard Charles is slated to go to work at Windsor, Ont., Saturday against Don Jasper and Willie Pep, the former feather king, appears in his home of Hartford, Conn., Tuesday against Jackie Blair.

Nino Valdes, giant Cuban heavy-weight, will test Eddie Machen, latest California phenom, at San Francisco Monday and Texas continues its boxing revival with an Isaac Logart-El Conscripto welterweight match Tuesday at Houston.

The television schedule starts Monday with a featherweight bout from St. Nicholas Arena in New York, featuring Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Bobby Bell of Youngstown, Ohio. When they met Feb. 27, Bell won a split decision. The match will be seen on Dumont.

Boyd, a high-ranking young middleweight contender from Chicago, takes on Mims at the Chicago Stadium in the Wednesday show (ABC-TV). In Boyd's last start he scored a surprising victory over Eduardo Lausse of Argentina. Mims has met them all since 1948.

The Friday show (NBC) wanders to the Cleveland Arena for the Tiger Jones-Fullmer scrap.

The Mid-East meeting will also match tennis and golf teams from the loop members. Hastings, Beatrice and Fairbury are the other teams in the conference.

Baseball action resumes today when Northeast hosts Southeast in a re-scheduled game which was postponed because of bad weather last week.

Other diamond tilts this week include Lincoln High at Omaha South and Southeast at Omaha Holy Name Friday, and Creighton Prep at Lincoln High Saturday.

Lincoln High, after finishing a surprising second in the Central Nebraska meet at Hastings last week, will entertain the Boys Town track team this afternoon.

Tuesday Cathedral journeys to Seward Concordia for a cinder contest, its second of the year.

Tennis matches are slated for every Capital City school that fields a team. Monday Boys Town is at Lincoln High. Tuesday Fairbury travels to Northeast. Wednesday Southeast and Lincoln High meet in an intra-city battle, with Southeast and Northeast in the Mid-East meet Thursday.

Lincoln High returns Boys Town's visit Friday to conclude court action for the week.

On the links, Northeast hosts Fairbury Tuesday and the Rockets are sending an alternate team to a Fremont tourney on the same day.

Wednesday Southeast and Lincoln High golfers meet at Pioneers, with the Mid-East meet Thursday. Friday Lincoln High golfers are at Boys Town.

CINDER NOTES—Local track competitors have turned in some of the better times reported in the state in many events, but sprinters and hurdlers are in big demand.

None of city teams have done well in the dashes or over the hurdles.

Among the better marks registered to date is a 3:34.5 clocking in the mile relay by Lincoln High's team of Carl True, Jack Muck, Dean Sell and Joe Gacusan.

The time was the best reported for Nebraska prepsters this spring, and set a new record in the Central Nebraska meet.

Jeff Chevront of Southeast soared 5-10 1/2 in a practice meet against Cathedral to take a strong grip on the lead in that event. His jump was more than two inches higher than his previous best.

Dean Sell of Lincoln High has recorded two of the top running times. He ran an easy 2:04.8 half mile at Hastings last week, and has a :16.0 clocking over the 120-yard high hurdles.

The rugged Link senior has the power and speed to crack the two-minute barrier in the 880 with the proper competition.

The top marks by Capital City tracksters:

- 100-yard dash—Ron Galois of Lincoln High, :10.8.
- 200-yard dash—J. V. Olson of Uni High and Ron Galois of Lincoln High, :24.8.
- 440-yard dash—Carl True of Lincoln High, :53.1.
- 880-yard run—Dean Sell of Lincoln High, :1:04.8.
- 1 mile run—George Rolofson of Northeast, 4:45.8.
- 120-yard high hurdles—Dean Sell of Lincoln High, :16.0.
- 180-yard low hurdles—Dick Jacobs of Lincoln High, :21.8.
- 880-yard relay—Lincoln High (Ron Galois, Gus Talaz, Don Davis, Serge Castiglano), 1:33.8.
- 1 mile relay—Lincoln High (Jack Muck, Carl True, Dean Sell, Joe Gacusan), 3:34.5.
- Two-mile relay—Lincoln High (Sam Beier, Dick Byers, Larry Haack, Terry Sapp), 9:22.7.
- Broad jump—Marv Bauer of University High, 20-4 1/2.
- High jump—Jeff Chevront of Southeast, 5-10 1/2.
- Pole vault—Bill Swanson of Lincoln High, 11-5.
- Shot put—Gene Dittenber of Northeast, 40-3 1/4.
- Discus—Joe Gacusan of Lincoln High, 148-7 1/2.

Green Wins Prize For Ticket Sales

Individual worker awards in the Chiefs baseball ticket campaign were won by two Exchange Club workers. George Green, with sales of 1,045 through Tuesday, won the top spot and a season ticket for two persons.

Exchange teammate Larry Cook picked up second place in the worker's race and earned a season ticket for one. Cook sold 737.

Ced Yoder, Sertoma, 629.
Irv Hathaway, Rotary, 495.
George Fessner, Optimists, 462.
Howard Doty, Kiwanis, 429.
Stan May Jr. and Ralph Tyler Jr., Exchange, 407.
Dean Cooner, Cosmopolitan, 374.
Dr. D. M. Hunt, Uni Place Lions, 176.
Rollie Bailey, Barbary Lions, 163.
Ray Mick, Havoc Lions, 152.
Northeast Rotary, Ken Boshard, 165.

Each club leader wins a smaller individual prize. The Exchange Club prize goes to the two persons tied for third place since top men in that club picked up the grand prizes for the workers.

Huskers Finish 3rd In Meet; Randolph Brittenham, Anderson Among Scorers

NORMAN, Okla.—Bernie Randolph, Dean Brittenham and Bob Anderson registered some of their top individual marks for Nebraska in a quadrangular meet here.

Oklahoma won its own meet with 67 1/2 points. Colorado was second with 51 1/2. Nebraska finished third with 27, and Arkansas trailed with 18.

Randolph hit 13-6 in the pole vault to place third. Brittenham tossed the javelin 179 feet to take third, and Anderson ran a :50.7 quarter to place fourth.

Husker results:
100-yard dash—Don Ficke, fourth.
220-yard dash—Don Ficke, third.
440-yard dash—Anderson, fourth.
880-yard run—Ben Gadd, fourth.
2-mile run—Bob Elwood, third.
120-yard high hurdles—Bill Hawkins, fourth.
220-yard low hurdles—Bill Marten, second.
Hawkins, fourth.

Discus—Smith, second; Len Rosen, third.
Pole vault—Randolph, third.
Javelin—Dean Brittenham, third; Lee Roberts, fourth.
Mile relay—Nebraska, third (Bob Nelson, Anderson, Ficke, Chuck Gibson).
Tavein—Dean Brittenham, third; Lee Roberts, fourth.

Nats Send Paula To Denver Club

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators Sunday assigned outfielder Carlos Paula to the Denver club of the American Assn. on a 24-hour recall basis.

The Senators also announced they were sending pitcher Ted Abernathy and first baseman Julio Becquer to their Louisville farm club in the American Assn.

The shifts bring the Washington team's roster to 31.

Glenn Williams, president of the Ohio Bowling Proprietors Assn., rolled scores of 245, 238, 237 in one series on his own lanes.

U.S. Should Share Its Plenty, Church Meet Decides

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A conference of clergymen and laymen concluded Sunday that "we never had it so good" and that we should share our abundance with the needy of other lands as well as the poor people of our own country.

This was the conclusion reached at the final session of the Third National Study Conference on the Church and Economic Life, which was sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

In addition to the clergy, some 400 leaders of government, industry, labor, agriculture and education took part in the four-day study of the relation of Christianity to our economic life.

In its final message, the conference declared:

The Reply
"To the shallow expression, 'We never had it so good,' the Christian must reply, 'We never had such heavy demands upon Christian conscience.'"

"As we look beyond the borders of our own country we find a world where millions of people are hungry or ill-fed," the message stated. "No people can call itself Christian, if, possessed of the means to abundance it fails to exert every effort within its power to relieve want wherever it exists."

The conference said that shipments of food and clothing to needy countries in times of disaster are not enough.

To Help Themselves
"A far more reaching Christian action, which will build for better Christian relationships, is assistance to people to help themselves, the sharing not only of things but of knowledge, techniques, methods, and the creative spirit," the conference said. "To this end Christians should support substantial participation by the United States in a . . . program of cooperation with other nations in the development of the less economically developed countries of the world."

Turning to our own country, the message stated:

"We must recognize the fact that even as we complain of problems of 'surplus' there are in our own country large numbers of people who do not share in the general abundance."

"Improved as is the distribution of income in our country and profoundly encouraging as is the substantial increase in the welfare and income of the middle groups in the economic scales, it is still true that about one-fourth of all American families have annual incomes of less than $2,000, not nearly enough to sustain a life of health and hope."

Down With Barriers
The conference also came to these conclusions:

1. "Every barrier to opportunity for people must be broken down—whether it be racial discrimination, economic injustice or exploitation, lack of educational opportunity, inadequate development of social institutions."

2. "Christians should decide now to support elimination of slums, redevelopment of blighted areas, . . . in American cities, building of hospitals and health facilities, broad attack on disease, maintenance and construction of highways and orderly development of natural resources."

3. "Christians must lead the way toward expanding school facilities and providing adequate pay for teachers."

Irked Patrol Cracks Down On Car Drags

OMAHA (AP)—The Nebraska Patrol was aroused by a rash of Sunday reports of drag racing in the Omaha area and asked the county attorney's office to find a method to penalize watchers.

Sunday a patrol lieutenant broke up one race at the "finish line" and ticketed two racers. Each received summons for willful reckless driving.

LT Robert Emery said, "We're receiving more drag race calls every Sunday. This was the worst day."

Deputy County Attorney Norman Denenberg, who handles traffic cases, was contacted by Emery. Denenberg said he would take the matter to the county attorney for consideration, adding:

"We are going to study the matter and see what kind of charges we can file against spectators."

The Patrol said it received at least six calls to break up races Sunday afternoon. In one case, Emery said, a large crowd watched and "they even had a look-out."

KUMathematician To Lecture At NU
Dr. G. Bailey Price, chairman of the department of mathematics at the University of Kansas, will give a series of lectures Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

He will discuss "Professional Opportunities in Mathematics" at 3 p.m. Thursday in Room 104 Burnett Hall. Friday he will talk on "Some Famous Problems of Modern Mathematics."

This speech will be at 8 p.m. in Room 108, Burnett Hall. He will lecture on "New Mathematics Courses for Freshmen and Sophomores" at the meeting of the Nebraska-South Dakota section of the Mathematical Association of America to be held Saturday morning.

The lecture series is being sponsored by the MAA and the University Convocation committee.

Dr. Price, a member of the Kansas faculty since 1937, served as an operations analyst for the Army Air Force during World War II and was a consultant to the office of the Secretary of Defense in 1951.

DEWEY THINKS NIXON A FINE V.P. CANDIDATE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said Sunday he "would be just delighted to vote for" Vice President Nixon for renomination if that is what Nixon and President Eisenhower both want.

Dewey said in an interview on a TV program there seemed "little question" the President wants Nixon for his running mate again.

"I think this — Eisenhower's — views should be paramount," he added, "and I'm sure every delegate to the convention would respect them."

Dewey, twice Republican presidential candidate himself, said he had "the highest regard" for the vice president, adding:

"The last three years he has done one of the most notable performances of any vice president in history."

West Germans Ban S.S. Vets
WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Heinrich Schröder, interior minister for the State of Hesse, announced ban of a planned organization of former SS elite guard cavalrymen. The SS troops served under Hitler.

Police Dogs Chase Danish Commies In Strike-Hit Land

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Police dogs chased demonstrators through the ancient streets of Odense Sunday as Communist agitators made this picturesque town the center of disturbance in strike hit Denmark. A score was arrested during brawls between police and mobs.

Mobs roamed the streets at noon Sunday and drivers and passengers were forced from buses. Police acted quickly. Dogs were set on the crowd which fled.

Workers have announced their return to work Monday.

Since Friday 60,000 workers have defied Parliament's order to return to work after 27 days of strikes. The workers are protesting Parliament's right to make a state-moderated compromise proposal a law after they had rejected it in a nationwide ballot.

The compromise offered a slight wage hike and some social benefits but did not cut the work week.

"I'd like to live beyond my income, but where will I get the money..."

"Don't talk about the law of gravity — it makes me nervous!"

It takes 30 printers and about 10,000 gallons of paint a year to keep the Golden Gate Bridge protected in 14 paint coats. To cover the entire area takes 4 years!

"Keep driving"—she kept saying—"until you come to one of those stations that give coupons!"

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

JOE PALOOKA By Ham Fisher

Neat Job
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — The thieves were tidy. They stole between $25 and $30 from a juke box. Then they cleaned up the mess made in breaking into it and replaced the window they had removed to get into the store, police reported.

Turn Off The Heat!
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Arguments went from warm to hot in 11th District Court, then attorneys and the judge turned to and out the fire. Rival attorneys in a damage suit action were in the midst of a big argument when flames suddenly leaped 2 feet from an extension cord behind Judge Cullen Briggs. Briggs called a recess and the attorneys rushed into service as amateur firefighters.

Passing The Word
FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Henry O'Bryen complained for a long time the things were missing from her home. When she found her collection — bag and all, she called police. They found the burglar was a big dog. They spoke to the owner. The owner

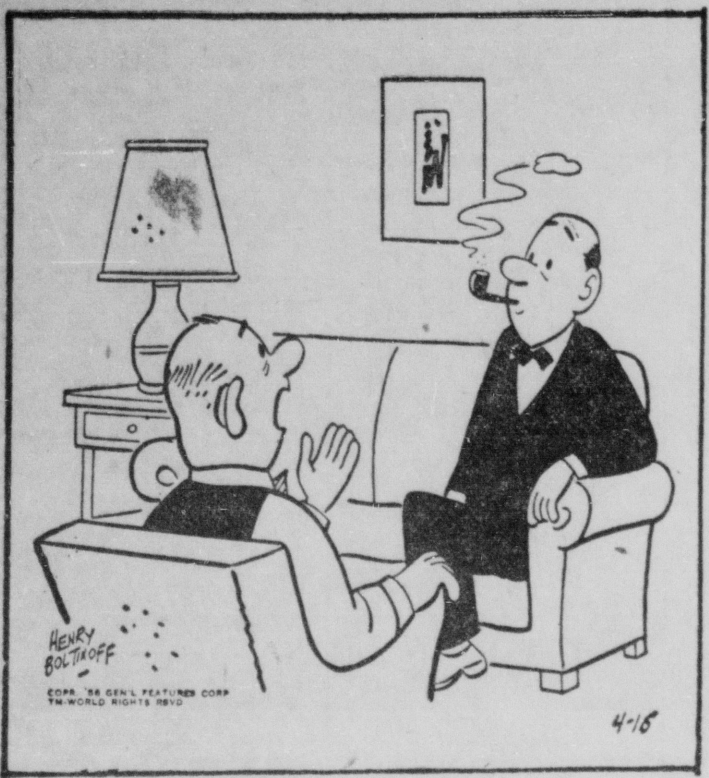

Carlsbad v. Carlsbad
CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — A 2-year-old feud between this California community and Carlsbad, N. M., over rights to the name may end in peaceful coexistence. The local Chamber of Commerce has invited the New Mexico city to enter a stall in the annual Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce suggested a peace motif might be in order for the feast.

Convict Education
JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Inmates get an education at Stateville Penitentiary and have diplomas to show it. Grade school diplomas were presented to 25 and high school diplomas to 20. One received a certificate from the University of Chicago showing successful completion of a course in mathematics and geometry.

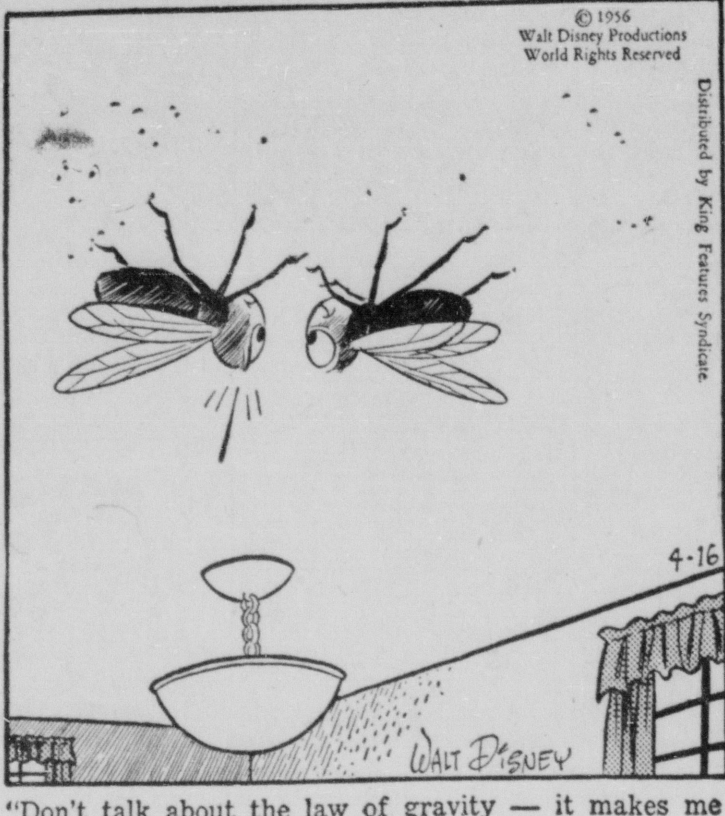

Sentence Confirmed
SOL. (AP) — Charles L. Youder was given a life term to stay in the Stateville Penitentiary for a crime committed in 1934. The sentence was confirmed by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of this rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE
Here's How To Work It
One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
